Queen to Visit Ottawa in Fall?

OTTAWA — Possibility of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh paying a brief visit to Canada this fall will be discussed by Prime Minister St. Laurent with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, when the two statesmen confer in Bermuda next month.

The Royal couple is expected to visit the United States this autumn.

Authoritative sources in Washington said Sunday the Queen has accepted "unofficially" President Eisenhower's invitation to take part in the 350th anniversary celebrations in connection with the founding of the first permanent English settlement on this continent, at Jamestown in Virginia.

(At London, the foreign office said today "there are no plans for a Royal visit to the United States or Canada, at present.")

However, it is pointed out here that they will be in Canada in 1959 for the opening of the St. Lawrence seaway.

Should Her Majesty and the Duke decide to come to Canada this fall it is likely the visit would be a short one of two or three days' duration at the most. They would only visit Ottawa.

LISBON (Reuters) — Half a million spectators jammed the streets and a crowd of 10,000 doves soared into the air today as Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh began a four-day state visit to Portugal.

Arrested At Gun-Point

Safe-cracker Michael A. Gorak pleaded guilty to two charges of breaking, entering and theft, one of possessing in city police court today.

He was captured at gunpoint early Sunday, 10½ hours after jumping to freedom out a second-storey window in the city detective bureau, where he was waiting to be charged with committing Friday night break-ins.

Const. Lorne Johnson fired two shots in the air to stop the suspect, running away from a police car across Victoria High School grounds early Sunday morning.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Gorak to Wednesday after hearing evidence from Det. William Andrews on the break-ins, arrest and Saturday escape of Gorak.

The accused said only: "I would like to make a plea on Wednesday."

The 32-year-old Gorak has spent 11 years and three months in Western Canada prisons for various offences, including

SHARES SOUP IN CHURCH

Caretaker's Tip Snarles Escapee

By AB KENT

A 70-year-old church caretaker was responsible for the capture early Sunday of confessed safe-cracker Michael A. Gorak after the suspect spent part of Saturday night in Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1279 Gladstone.

John MacBeath, 70, 1908 Fernwood, tipped police regarding Gorak's activities in the Fernwood-Gladstone area after sharing a tin of soup and some canned pineapple with him in the church basement.

Actual capture was made at gunpoint shortly after 7 a.m. by Cons. Lorne Johnson, of city police.

ACTED NERVOUS

The caretaker, who knew of Gorak's escape from the police station, did not become suspicious immediately, but got wary when his companion at the impromptu supper Saturday night started to act nervous.

Here is his story: "I went into the church to open it up for the Teen-Time group at 6:15. There he was warming himself a can of soup on the electric stove. Quite a cool customer."

"He invited me to have a bowl of soup with him. He had a can of pineapple there, too."

"I was gracious enough to sit down with him, and he told me his name was Wilson."

"He finished the soup and pineapple—which I think he bought at a store; he didn't take it from the church—and began to get a little nervous."

"He said his mother was expecting him for supper. I was beginning to get a little worried."

"He left his dirty dishes in the sink and went out, but I don't think he left the church."

"I washed the dishes and phoned the police as soon as I got home."

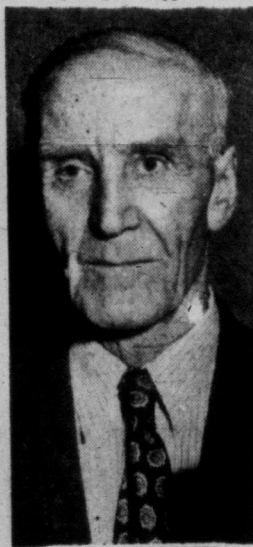

"The police came while I was having a cup of coffee at the store (nearby) and I told them I thought he was still around the church. They said he would be miles away by this time."

Mr. MacBeath then went home, getting up early to do his work in the church, about a block away.

SLEPT IN CHURCH
"I met him again Sunday morning (about 6 o'clock) at the corner of Fernwood and Gladstone. I believe he spent the night in the church. We saw a place in the basement where he had made a bed out of sacks and sawdust."

"He spoke to me on the street. He said, 'Good morning. You're up early this morning.' I said, 'So are you,' and he said he was going to work."

"I went and phoned the police. I think I did the right thing by playing along with him the night before."

City Airmen Cheat Death In Winnipeg Bomber Crash

SIX WALKED AWAY FROM THIS RCAF WRECK

Six RCAF men, including two Victorians, escaped serious injury when this RCAF Mitchell bomber plowed into a residential section of St. James, Man., a suburb of Winnipeg, while coming in to land at Winnipeg's Stevenson Field Sunday night. The plane damaged three houses before landing on the first floor of an unfinished house and poking its nose into a bungalow whose occupants were away. No one on the ground was injured. (AP Wirephoto.)

Plane Roars Into Houses —No One Hurt

Two Victoria men had a miraculous escape from death Sunday at Winnipeg when their RCAF twin-engine bomber crashed in a residential area.

Neither occupants nor residents were seriously hurt, although the huge plane bounced off houses and knocked down garages.

The plane carried a crew of three and three passengers. Included were:

FO Douglas Gibson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gibson, 4225 Quadra.

Flt-Sgt. R. F. Hawes, about 40, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hawes, 2522 Belmont.

FO Gibson received a slight head cut in the crash. Flt-Sgt. Hawes was unhurt.

Only one of the four other occupants of the ill-fated aircraft was held in hospital. He has possible back injuries.

Both the Victoria men had been in the city visiting relatives on the weekend. Their plane had left Vancouver for Winnipeg early Sunday, completing the return leg of a navigational flight.

The pilot, FO J. S. Sargent, of Westwood, Ont., reported engine trouble as he neared Stevenson Field, adjoining residential St. James, a Winnipeg suburb.

Roaring down through the early evening darkness, the plane slammed the roof of the home of James Mair, at the same time leaving part of its fuselage embedded in the house next door occupied by Maxwell Orchard and knocking the chimney from the home of Steve Reynolds. The three homes are side by side.

Hit Only Empty House in Block

Dipping into the back yards as it drove diagonally across the block, the aircraft pushed into the roof of one garage, demolished another while the owner was away with his car, broke off a six-inch power pole and skidded into the framework of a house under construction.

The house was the only unoccupied one in the block.

The nose of the plane pushed into the side of the home of Clarence Campbell, who with his wife was away at the time. The family dog was trapped in the house, which was knocked askew by the impact. The animal was later rescued.

There was no fire but the plane was a twisted wreck.

One man was pinned in the wreckage for a time.

No one on the ground was injured.

Police Chief Donald MacDonald said, "You never saw such a miracle in your life."

"How in the name of God it hit that place just under construction instead of some house full of people nobody will ever know."

"Most amazing thing I ever saw," the chief said. "Nobody even scraped—who can ever explain something like that?"

Shaken residents were talkative and happy with relief but some hinted they were thinking of moving.

The crash recalled a similar mishap in the city in 1951, when a Vampire jet crashed into a garage. The pilot escaped severely.

Ike Won't Go Past UN To End Israel Deadlock

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel announced today she is recalling Ambassador Abba Eban from Washington for consultations arising from President Eisenhower's renewed appeal to Israel to withdraw its troops from Egypt.

General Assembly to vote economic penalties now to get Israel out of Egypt.

One Arab source told a reporter he had heard "it was the sense of the group" that a resolution calling for economic relations should be introduced when the General Assembly resumes Middle East debate Tuesday.

OTTAWA READY TO SELL URANIUM TO FRIENDS

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is prepared to sell uranium to "friendly governments" for peaceful purposes, Trade Minister Howe announced today.

He said in the Commons that any sales agreements Canada signs will have to come under control regulations drawn up by the United Nations for an international atomic energy agency.

"Except for the control provisions," he added, "sales arrangements concluded under bilateral agreements will be on a normal commercial basis."

FUNERAL TUESDAY

Funeral for Samuel P. Cromie, 39, assistant publisher and vice-president of the Vancouver Sun, drowned in a boating tragedy Saturday, will be held in Vancouver Tuesday, at 3:30. Also drowned was Derek Dix, 39, Neon Products Co. executive. (See story, page 7.)

70 Die in Funeral Pyre At Missouri Home for Aged

WARREN, Mo. (AP) — Firemen poked through the smoldering ruins of an old folks home today for the bodies of at least 70 persons who died in the blazing funeral pyre within minutes Sunday.

The searchers, working in spots cooled off by streams of water, had found 16. A deadly stench filled the air. Smoke and steam continued to rise from the ruins.

Seventy of the 155 patients, including 45 women, were reported missing in the fast-spreading fire. A ripping explosion followed. One eyewitness said the entire building was aflame in three or four minutes. Another said about 15. Authorities were baffled by the speed with which the flames raced through the two-story brick building.

The victims ranged in age up to 99 years.

One child was among those missing and presumed dead. She was Susan Kay Pfister, 17-year-old invalid daughter of Mrs. Alice Watts of Lynn, Ark.

The charred bodies were found buried in a pile of twisted iron beds, plumbing fixtures, brick and mortar in the basement. Some, all but cremated, were so badly burned they were put in cardboard cartons little more than a foot square.

The building went down by floors. The roof fell in. The second floor followed and it all collapsed into the basement.

Thet prisoner chose a poor time t' escape. There's no where much t' go in Victoria on a weekend.

Looks like there'll be a lot o' things t' be buried in the Rocky Mountain trench.

One thing about a monorail, there's no two ways about it.

WENNER-GREN DEAL

Bennett Says People Favor Project 20-1

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Premier Bennett today claimed the people of British Columbia are now 20 to one in favor of the Wenner-Gren multi-million dollar industrial development in north-central B.C.

"This is indicated not only by weekend press comment but by letters reaching this office and from special information obtained from all corners of the province," the premier said.

"Last Friday's historic debate served to clear the air and answered many questions in the public mind," he said.

Mr. Bennett voiced his usual complaint that the opposition has "obstructed every progressive policy this government has put forward, including even the northern extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway."

"They may continue to quarrel with us over the way we presented this (Wenner-Gren) project. But they have been silenced so far as the scheme itself is concerned. They cannot produce a jot of evidence to show it is not in the future interests of the province."

The premier added that the Wenner-Gren scheme has done more to interest the world in B.C. than anything else could have done.

"I hope the opposition will help to keep the subject alive."

It is wonderful publicity for B.C."

The premier referred to a suggestion from the London Daily Express, owned by New Brunswick-born Lord Beaverbrook, that the northern development should be done by British, Canadian and U.S. capital.

"We agree with this in principle... and we only wish Britain would invest more in B.C. But the fact is, no other country came forward with the unique kind of enterprise put forward by Wenner-Gren."

"It imposes no restrictions, requires no giveaways, involves us in no risk. And the opportunities for British, Canadian and American capital in this province are still unlimited."

Premier Bennett said he wished men like Lord Beaverbrook would come to B.C. and survey the opportunities for British investment.

Mr. Bennett said a great many people were suspicious of Axel Wenner-Gren because of his genius for making money.

"What they do not realize is that men of his age are chiefly interested in leaving some sort of monument behind them. Carnegie and Rockefeller are good examples of that."

"I believe Mr. Wenner-Gren is activated by similar motives."

Cypriot Who Claims Police Got 'Torture' Confession Freed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — British justice Bernard Shaw, who was himself shot through the neck and seriously wounded by Cypriot terrorists last June, today acquitted and discharged a 21-year-old Greek Cypriot accused of murdering a British sergeant.

The Cypriot, Charalambous Christodoulides, admitted signing a confession but said police had "extracted" it from him. He said he signed it only because he feared he would be "tortured again" if he did not.

"I find," said Justice Shaw, "that the accused has succeeded in raising a reasonable doubt as to whether his statement was freely and voluntarily made."

Meanwhile, a British serviceman and a member of the EOKA terrorist organization were reported killed today in a gun battle in the Troodos Mountains area about 50 miles west of Nicosia.

The dead terrorist is believed to be Demetris Christodoulou, a 20-year-old Greek Cypriot with a £5,000 price on his head. The British victim was the 101st Briton and the 78th serviceman to die since the outbreak of terrorism in Cyprus in 1955.

rious injury but a man in the garage was fatally injured.

The bomber crashed seemed likely to stir protests from residents of the area whose safety would be threatened by any future crashes.

Mayor T. B. Findlay said he has asked for a detailed report of findings of an RCAF hearing on the crash.

HOME SHOOK

Mrs. Orchard said she and her husband and young son were all in their house when the crash came. "We just stood stock still waiting for the roof to come in. Then we all ran outside in our bare feet.

The temperature was zero and the ground was covered with snow.

Joan Mair, 18, was in her family's two-storey frame home with her mother, Mrs. Mary Mair; her sister, Laura, 9, and her grandmother, Mrs. Anne Mair.

"I heard it coming and I thought it was going to hit and I pulled up the blind," she said. Just then it did hit.

Mrs. Reynolds said their home shook when the plane hit the chimney.

FO R. A. Askew, who lives across the street from where the plane came to rest, was at the airport when the crash occurred.

"I thought it was right in my front door and I rushed up here," he said. "The first thing I saw was the co-pilot wandering around in a daze.

"I brought him over to the house, patched him up and gave him a cup of tea."

Both local men were born here. FO Gibson joined the RCAF at Calgary two years ago. He is married and has a wife in Winnipeg.

Flt.-Sgt. Hawes joined the RAF in 1939 and transferred to the RCAF six years later. He was mentioned in dispatches during the Second World War. Married, he has three children at his present home in Winnipeg.

Relatives of both men said it was the first time either had been involved in a crash.

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Winston Churchill proposed to use Canadian troops for a landing in Norway on January 1943, after British service chiefs had twice vetoed the idea, says a new war history.

The book, "The Turn of the Tide," by Sir Arthur Bryant, is based on the war diaries and later notes of Field Marshal Viscount Alanbrooke, Britain's leading strategist of the Second World War.

Alanbrooke, was chief of the Imperial General Staff and chairman of the British Chiefs of Staff Committee for most of the war.

Alanbrooke tells how Churchill had promised Stalin an invasion of Norway, only to find his chiefs of staff would not agree to it while the North African operation was being carried out in the latter half of 1942.

Rebuffed by his chiefs, Churchill then invited Canadian army commander Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton to discuss Norway. Alanbrooke said McNaughton told him before seeing Churchill that "he would not dream of accepting such a task for his troops."

After his interview with Churchill, Alanbrooke said, "A limp-looking McNaughton walked into my room and literally poured himself into my armchair."

"I asked him how he had got on. He informed me that he had had a ghastly weekend. "He had been kept up till all hours of the morning until he didn't know which way he was facing. Winston's control of the English language ... had left him dumfounded."

Two days later, the book discloses, Churchill was planning to send the Canadian commander to Moscow for immediate conversations with Stalin.

But by this time the Canadian government had considered the proposal and vetoed it.

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters) — A Polish immigrant went berserk in a Brisbane suburb today, killing six persons before taking his own life. Slain were his wife and child, a mother and her two daughters and another girl.

Marie Majka, 30, who spent her war in a German concentration camp, battered his wife and child to death.

He then entered the home of his Scottish immigrant neighbor, Ramsay Irvine, 33; her daughters, Ann, 12, and Maureen, 9, and another girl, Lynette Karger, 12. He poured kerosene over their bodies and set them afire.

Mrs. Irvine's six-months-old daughter, Elaine, was found lying under her mother's body, suffering from burns and wounded foot. Irvine was at work at the time.

Detectives and uniform police in several prowler cars were searching the neighborhood on a tip from Emmanuel Baptist Church caretaker John MacBeath, who had spoken to Gorak only 50 minutes before at Fernwood and Gladstone, opposite the school.

Gorak elected trial by magistrate on the four charges, to which he pleaded guilty.

Det. Andrews told the court he went in company with Det. Deans Blackstock at 8 a.m. Saturday to Canadian National Railways offices at 1101 Government, where entry had been made by forcing a window and dial-knocked off three safes.

By EDDY GILMORE
SETUBAL, Portugal (AP) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh came ashore smil- ing for social rounds Sunday after a rock-and-roll night aboard the gale-tossed Bri- tannia.

The Queen and her husband, reunited Saturday after a sepa- ration of more than four months — were pitched about as high winds whistled over the anchored yacht and white- capped waves sank about a dozen small fishing boats of Setubal villagers.

"It was a crazy, mixed-up night," said seaman Arnold Rocknall. "First the moon came out. Then a squall hit us and we rocked and rolled for hours."

The Queen was smiling, but pale upon landing. The duke was his usual swaggering self. Parties took up some of the royal couple's time Sunday.

After breakfast on the rock- ing Britannia, they went to ship- board religious services. These were conducted by Canon Hugh Farrie, chaplain to Lisbon's Bri- tish community.

Shortly after noon the Queen and the duke boarded a small launch and, racing a sudden rainstorm, chugged to the crowd-lined docks at this fish- ing village.

The inhabitants of Setubal, who rescued and sheltered many British sailors from tor- pedoed ships in the war, shouted and waved.

Queen Clutches Hat Against Driving Wind

The Queen, wearing a white raincoat and clutching a dark, close-fitting hat against the wind, stepped neatly to shore.

The duke followed in a grey suit, tan raincoat and brown hat.

The rain turned into hail. A Portuguese official held an um- brella over the pretty, wan Queen. The duke just hunched his shoulders against the storm until he followed his wife into their waiting car.

The Queen waved to photogra- phers who, at the moment, were being manhandled by Setubal police. The duke looked on as a hefty policeman yanked a woman photographer across a path near the car.

Then, with the crowd cheer- ing wildly, the Queen and the duke rode off to lunch with the Duke of Palmela, a for- mer Portuguese ambassador to Britain, at Calhariz Palace.

The day's second party was in the form of a courtesy call by Don Juan of Bourbon, pretender to the Spanish throne and a cousin of the Queen.

Lisbon Decorations Damaged by Storm

While the Queen and the Duke were coming and going in this area 30 miles southeast of Lisbon, people of the capital tidied up street decorations for the couple's arrival there via Portugal's gold and black royal barge at 11 a.m. today. The decorations were damaged by the Saturday night storm.

After the landing, a review of troops, the blare of military bands and the pomp and cere- mony that a proud people have arranged for their visitors, the couple will enter a royal car- riage.

The carriage, a magnificent vehicle, was last used to trans- port Portuguese monarchs through Lisbon streets before Portugal became a republic in 1910. It will take the Queen and her husband to the Queluz Palace, where they will live during their three-day state visit. There they will meet the officials of Portugal.

Following a private luncheon, the Queen will greet British children of the community. A state banquet will be followed by a reception.

When the royal party arrived here Saturday night, the duke, whose christian name is Philip, pointed to the dominating castle of Sao Philipe and joked to the harbor master:

"Your town is so kind to me that even the castle has my name."

The duke, browner and thinner after a 35,000-mile voyage halfway around the world, met his wife Saturday on her arrival by plane at Montijo Air- port near Lisbon. Ignoring of- ficial arrangements for officials to leave the plane first, he en- tered the airliner to greet his wife as soon as the door was opened.

The duke emerged with a tiny smear of lipstick on his face. The lipstick came from a queenly kiss.

"Of course they kissed," said a Portuguese official. "Why on earth shouldn't they? They are two very normal young people."

HITLER'S SECRET WEAPONS REVEALED

Flying Saucer Flown in 1945 Hit 1,250 MPH at 40,000 Feet

MUNICH (Reuters) — Nazi Germany developed flying sau- cers that flew more than 1,000 miles an hour and a bomber that could attack the United States and return without re- fuelling, it was disclosed Sun- day.

These and other details of Hitler's efforts to achieve a "wonder weapon" that would turn the tide of the war in its closing hours are revealed in a book called "The German Weapons and Secret Weapons of World War II and Their Development," by Rudolph Lu- sar, who during the war was head of the technical arms department of the German war ministry.

The flying saucers, designed by three German engineers and an Italian, were 138 feet in diameter. The first one flew Feb. 14, 1945, at Prague, and reached a height of more than 40,000 feet and a speed of 1,250 miles an hour.

Germany, the book says, was also building the Heinkel 343, a bomber capable of reaching the United States and return- ing without refuelling.

NEW YORK DOCK STRIKE SETTLED

NEW YORK (AP) — New York waterfront employers and the striking International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.), reached agreement Sunday night on a pact to end the five-day tieup of ports from Maine to Virginia by 45,000 dock- workers.

The actual back-to-work move- ment, however, is conditional on membership ratification of the proposed three-year contract and settlement of thorny local issues in several ports.

Hassles over local port condi- tions in Boston, Philadelphia and Wilmington, Del., kept local union officials and employer groups in various stages of ne- gotiations.

They, nonetheless, were ex- pected to fall in line quickly once the 25,000 longshoremen in the port of New York accept terms of the new contract. As in past waterfront strikes, the "pilot" pacts negotiated in New York have set the pattern for the entire east coast.

What Is Mr. Bennett's Policy?

THE OPPOSITION IN THE Legislature is rightly asking, and the people of British Columbia are entitled to know, what the provincial Government intends to do with the powers of the Columbia River.

The development of those powers is the largest single item of business facing British Columbia, for the future of our whole economy depends largely upon them.

But so far Premier Bennett has announced no policy on the Columbia. He has made a series of announcements from time to time but they do not add up to a policy. They add up to a mystery. Mr. Bennett is not telling the people what his Government intends to do. He is deliberately mystifying them.

To be sure, the future of the Columbia, in its international aspects, must be settled by the Federal Government which is now negotiating with the United States.

These negotiations relate mainly to the fair division of the so-called downstream benefits — the extra power to be manufactured on the American stretches of the Columbia as a result of a dam to be installed at Mica Creek, in Canada. However this international bargaining turns out, it is the British Columbia Government alone which must decide how the Columbia is to be developed, by whom and for what purpose.

The first question to be settled is whether these vast powers shall be developed by a private company like the B.C. Electric or by the B.C. Power Commission as a public utility like the highly successful Ontario Hydro.

The C.C.F. demands a publicly-owned development, believing that it will give the consumer the lowest possible price for electricity. Mr. Bennett has not accepted or rejected this demand. His general bent of policy favors private ownership and the B.C. Electric. But his fragmentary comments indicate that he is flatly opposed to the B.C. Electric's plans for the Columbia.

Mr. Grauer, head of the B.C. Electric, is a member of the Gordon Commission on Canada's economic prospects. Mr. Grauer has signed the Commission's preliminary report which urges large exports of Columbia power from the Mica Creek dam to the United States, at least for a period of years.

Clearly the B.C. Electric's plan is to build the dam on the basis of such exports. Part of the resulting power would be sold in British Columbia, chiefly in the Vancouver area, and the rest would go to American industries until such time as British Columbia needed it.

This large American market, as the Gordon Commission notes, would enable a company like the B.C. Electric to finance the dam project with ease. Without such a market financing by a private company might well prove difficult if not impossible.

A Major Decision

ANNOUNCEMENT THAT Britain will reduce its armed forces in West Germany by nearly 40 per cent follows closely on the Washington talks in which the point was reiterated that economic strength is as vital a part of national security as is direct military strength.

Britain's military commitments, indeed, its whole military structure at present levels, impose a serious strain on its economy. Relief was necessary if the country was not to be brought to the brink of financial disaster. The reduction in the establishment of troops on the continent is a phase of that relief. Britain has chosen the lesser of two evils.

The move is one reflection of a change in British military thinking. As in the United States, there has been keen debate on the question of manpower versus atomic power. In Britain, prompted by economic necessity, the latter opinion has won out. The United Kingdom, which reports that its production of atomic bombs is proceeding steadily, will put its defensive trust in nuclear warfare.

The change is made, too, in the

In Short

GOVERNOR-GENERAL MASSEY's plea for clearer, simpler writing and speaking—voiced in an address at Mount Allison University, New Brunswick—should find ready support among the reading public.

Far too many writers, Mr. Massey said, use three pages to say what could have been said better in one. And in the category of writers he includes not only the authors of books and the journalists, but the thousands of persons in business, government, radio, television and

Mr. Bennett has committed himself against power exports from the Mica Creek dam. He is prepared to give the United States most of the downstream benefits and that actually means power exports under another name. But since he will allow no exports from the dam he rejects the Gordon Commission's report and the evident plans of the B.C. Electric.

Where does that leave us? Does Mr. Bennett propose to put the dam under public ownership through the Power Commission or some similar body as urged by the C.C.F.? He has not said so.

All the public knows so far is that in the case of the famous Kaiser dam on Lower Arrow Lake he proposed to let an American company impound our water and use it to make electricity in the United States in return for cash payments. This deal, negotiated by Mr. Robert Somers, then minister of lands and forests, was quashed by the Federal Government on the ground that water exports were nothing but power exports and hence violated a long-standing federal policy.

There have been indications that Mr. Bennett would revive at Mica Creek the same sort of policy he vainly attempted on Lower Arrow Lake. That is to say, an American company would be invited to build the master dam and would hand it over to British Columbia "free." No power would be exported from the dam site but the Americans would be repaid by a grant of most of the extra power thus created south of the line.

This plan would suit neither the Federal Government (which seeks at least a half of the downstream benefits) nor the B.C. Electric (which wishes to build the dam) nor the Power Commission (which wishes to develop the Columbia as a publicly-owned utility).

Again, it is said that Mr. Bennett intends to keep all or most of the Columbia power in the interior of the province to develop new industries and new cities there. If so, where is Vancouver to get the power that it will need within ten years? Is Mr. Bennett thinking of another power development on the Fraser to serve Vancouver despite the objections of the salmon industry?

Only Mr. Bennett knows the answer to these questions and he has refused to give it to the Legislature. Before it prorogues the Legislature should insist on an answer. Otherwise, as so often in the past, the Legislature and public may be presented with a fait accompli which may not suit them but cannot be altered.

The powers of the Columbia represent one of British Columbia's primary assets. The people are entitled to know what Mr. Bennett intends to do with them.

shadow of Russian progress in atomic armaments. London reports say that the U.S.S.R. is on the verge of producing an atomic missile that will travel at 5,000 miles per hour — which would put it outside the scope of present defensive facilities.

NATO's military leaders, of course, will see the partial British withdrawal from the continent as a serious blow to the strength of the alliance. Equally serious was the earlier removal of sizable French forces from the continent to North Africa, and the current avowed intention of France to "streamline" its forces still further.

The repercussions may be particularly strong in West Germany, where already Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has had his problems in raising the German units which will be part of the NATO strength.

As stated in London this week, Britain's main defensive effort, in this atomic age, will lie in avoiding the outbreak of war. It would appear to be a very logical course, provided sufficient deterrent strength is retained to give weight in negotiation.

elsewhere who are sources of the written word.

Communication, said the Governor-General, too often emerges as "a babel of uncertain sounds." Because of the vast outpouring of words which characterizes our society today, we must have conciseness, unity and clarity if we are not to lose all hope of understanding.

Language can be a means of communication, or it can be an impediment. The hard-pressed reader of today, trying to keep up with all that he feels he should read, will hope Mr. Massey's advice is followed.

Look Who Has to Push the Cart

RETRACING STEPS

Backward, Turn Backward...

WITH 21 novels, 25 plays and 83 years behind him, W. Somerset Maugham has obviously had a wide experience of observing and portraying life. It is interesting, then, to learn that his current ambition is to leave his villa on the French Riviera and make a sentimental journey, as he calls it, to revisit all the places he knew in his youth and stir the memories of the past.

Tobin

That must be as fine a way as any to meet the closing days of a lifetime—to see again the familiar haunts of long ago and re-live, at least in part, the youthful years. Good lives, like good speeches, may well end with a recapitulation, a summing up and review of what has taken place.

Doubtless, with his knowledge, the famous writer is fortified against what he may find in the course of his twilight flight. For the years will have wrought many changes in the places he now holds in memory.

Changing Years

Treasured views will have gone completely, others will have altered perhaps beyond recognition. Those which may have remained physically as they were when he saw them long ago, could offer the greatest surprises of all.

If beauty is in the eye of the beholder, the past is in the mind of the rememberer. The man of 83 who retraces his ground is not the man of 20 or 30 who first passed that way. His perception has changed, his outlook has widened, his field of reference has been enlarged.

Thus you have the astonishment of the man who, for instance, returns to his prairie home town after many years and sees once more the church building that was so familiar to him as a boy. He enters and can't believe his eyes. Where is the vast chamber he remembers, the huge pews, the enormous pulpit in which to the little boy in the back row the minister seemed to be almost out of sight on Sinai?

Point of View

Here he sees only a somewhat dingy-looking room, so tiny it would be crowded with thirty persons, the pews small, the cramped pulpit almost within arm's reach of the congregation.

The memory of the boy has run into conflict with the assessment of the man. The result can only be disillusionment.

Some revision of memory is of course to be expected. Few adults would expect to return to the scene of their youth and find the joys of childhood unchanged. The haymow as a gymnasium, the creek as a swimming pool, the farmhouse attic as a bedroom, will have lost most if not all of their attraction. So much of life's enjoyment depends on the viewpoint, and the viewpoint of youth is a particularly favorable one.

It is sometimes equally astonishing to return to ideas, as Mr. Maugham plans to return to scenes. A bundle of old letters, a school composition book, a college essay, or the reminder by an old friend of some thought you once held dear, can often evoke a startled, "Good lord, did I think that!" It's like coming face to face with the person you used to be, and finding it difficult to recognize this stranger.

Lifelong Standards

Some ideas, to be sure, will remain unchanged. They will appear as familiar friends, grown older and staid, maturing with the years.

These may be the important concepts that shape our lives, and lucky the man or woman who, coming unexpectedly upon them in later times, finds that as friends they were well chosen; that from the current of ideas that surged through the youthful years some good ones were seized.

Mr. Maugham's sentimental journey will be an interesting one. At 83 he should have the mental and emotional stamina to stand firm. And I venture to say he will soon find—and no doubt he does already realize it—that the old world he seeks to revisit is in reality a new world. Life is one journey in which, even while back-tracking, you must break new ground.

MARKED for READING

SECOND THOUGHTS

I was 22, and I had thought of being the first female prime minister of England, but it seemed to be taking rather a long time, so I decided to take a holiday while I thought what to do instead.

—Bridget Boland, the Irish novelist and playwright.

RELATIVE PACE

I have noticed that visitors to the United States—women especially—go around the town—this town certainly—at a furious pace. Naturally, they are seeing the sights—something which the natives rarely do. They take in a lot of mileage and give out a lot of energy in one day. And then they say—"I could never stand the pace of New York if I lived there." If you lived here, you wouldn't go at this pace. You would work, and play, and rest and lounge, just like the natives of London. I myself have an exhausting time when I visit London, but not when I live in New York.

As Our Readers See It

Great Service

It is unfortunate for the Saanich Municipality to have two of its younger and progressive councillors resign through unforeseen circumstances at this particular time. It appears in recent years the development of the municipality has far outgrown its administration, and the taxpayers are much to blame for the state of affairs. Reeve Arthur Ash has brought to the Council a wide experience of municipal affairs and is endeavouring to relieve the taxpayers of a burden through the introduction of amalgamation.

In spite of obstacles and a lack of co-operation, Reeve Ash is doing a great service to the taxpayers of the municipality.

Giving in the Cause

It is most regrettable that, as explained by Rev. Richard Welsh in your issue of Feb. 11, Anglican Christians have so little realization of the work of their church, and so little sense of dependence and of stewardship upon God.

The reverend clergyman quoted the figure of $18.26 per year per capita or an average of 35 cents per week—the price as he says of a packet of cigarettes for all of the exalted privileges of being heirs of the Kingdom and joint heirs of that life everlasting for which the church is the sole agent.

Surely after reading his heart-rending article so kindly published for mutual social benefit the financial returns will take an upward turn, and thus afford an extended impetus to those causes which he says are God's.

Singled Out for Destruction?

Re the recent article which appeared in the local press, "Builders Face Ruin." It is a little surprising to note that only now are the press and public becoming aware of the situation which has been serious for at least the last fourteen months.

The Central Mortgage & Housing Corporation has pursued the consistent policy over that time of calculated harassment of builders and discouragement to prospective home owners. Specifications have been loaded every month with new and expensive requirements. Inspection has steadily become more and more rigorous and fussy.

This is not a local or provincial matter. The foregoing conditions uniformly prevailed across Canada. The scarcity of loan money now is only the culmination of an effort to slow down and strangle house building. The president of the Canadian House Builders' Association has repeatedly and vigorously protested the policy of the Central Mortgage & Housing, which, while publicly claiming the availability of Central Mortgage & Housing facilities, privately sabotages the efforts of builders and owners.

It is well understood by the building industry that inflation must be controlled, but it should not be necessary to single out one industry for destruction when it would be possible to apply restrictions across the board covering all business in Canada.

Bear Pit

In reading "When We Were Very Young" by Mr. Sivertz in Saturday's Times I was particularly struck by his remark "... we were ashamed of the action of our elders in keeping them (the bears) in such hideous captivity." He draws a fine contrast between the bears in the pit, which aroused pity, and the bear who shared his log—an illuminating lesson on bears!

Most children will agree with Mr. Sivertz that the thought of wild creatures captive is disquieting—worse, repugnant. A zoo cannot give the true picture of a wild creature in his habitat that can be enjoyed by today's child through the telescopic lens in such excellent movies as "Pacific Elk," "African Lion," "Bear Country," "The Forest Grows" and the fine films shown by the Audubon Society, to name a few.

The zoo is an insufficiently truthful representation for the modern inquiring child.

Needs Clarification

I am amazed that present-day Canadians should be confronted with a situation wherein a Canadian Prime Minister is accused of threatening to withdraw our beloved Canada from the British Commonwealth.

The denial by Mr. St. Laurent requires further clarification.

Sunday Law

The Sunday Law of which much has been heard recently is the same as was on the Statute Books in Great Britain from the 17th century and was adopted as law in the Dominion of Canada at Confederation. It was for the sake of their rights and liberties, and to avoid persecution that many left the shores of the Old World for North America in the 17th century. They hoped to have freedom of worship.

But the old Sunday Law has remained on the Statute Books in Canada due to the constant efforts of powerful religious bodies, and we may see today how impossible it is to so frame a law that could consistently compel everyone to cease work on Sunday.

It is plain to be seen that the purpose of this law is not for the sake of public health and welfare else laws would also be made fixing the hours of rest and sleep or forbidding such practices as liquor drinking or using tobacco which are acknowledged as unhealthy. The Sunday Law is a religious law upheld strongly by religious leaders who in their weakness look to the state for the power they lack.

Money Down Rat Holes

The amount of the taxpayers' money that goes down various rat holes each year must run into millions of dollars. For instance, in the Times it was stated that the Greater Victoria Civil Defence Control Board has approved a budget of $35,000 for 1937.

If the people were given a chance to vote on this at the time of the coming school board referendum quite a number of paid wardens would be out of jobs. Just because the Federal and Provincial Governments pay $25,800 of the proposed budget does not mean the local taxpayers do not pay indirectly. It is very doubtful if we can send a dollar to Ottawa and back without it costing us 25 per cent more than it would if we paid it in direct taxes.

We have half a dozen town planning boards in this area in addition to the Civil Defence Board and yet after several years there has not been a major street plan devised for the Greater Victoria district. If there was the slightest chance that there would be an emergency evacuation of the citizens all these boards have been negligent in their duties and obligations.

Juggling the Forces

THE U.N. is not a tribunal which hands down decisions that we must then loyally support. The United States is itself a part of that tribunal, and in what it decides we have a deciding part. We do not have the power to decide affirmatively when the interests of the Arab, Afro-Asian and Soviet blocs are at issue. We do have the power of veto, and by combining with the Arab, Afro-Asian and Soviet blocs, we have the power to cause the General Assembly to act affirmatively. We can prevent action or we can support their action. This is where the U.S. is in the General Assembly.

The painful dilemma in which we now find ourselves arises from the situation in the General Assembly. The basic fact is that Israel can be coerced if we will vote to coerce her, whereas Egypt cannot, as the Assembly is now constituted, be coerced at all.

Israel can be coerced if we do not exercise our veto and instead vote for sanctions. But Egypt cannot be coerced because the Arab, Afro-Asian and Soviet blocs also have a veto, and what is more will certainly use their veto.

Two Wrongs

We are in a dilemma because there have been two closely related wrongs, two closely related breaches of the law of the United Nations, and yet within the United Nations it is possible to right only one, not both, of these breaches of the law.

Israel is a law-breaker because she has invaded the Sinai Peninsula and the Gaza Strip. But Egypt is no less a law-breaker because, despite the armistice, she has waged war against Israel by blocking the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba and by organizing guerrilla warfare across the Israeli frontier.

The problem which confronts the United Nations and the United States is how to get Israel to withdraw, thereby ending her war against Egypt, without putting Egypt in a position to resume her war against Israel. The problem is how to prevent both sides, not merely one side, from waging war.

The controlling fact in the situation is, as I pointed out above, that the General Assembly will, as it is now aligned, exert pressure on Israel but not on Egypt.

Nasser is, therefore, in a position to refuse to give any public assurances that he will cease to violate the armistice if the Israeli army withdraws. As a result, those who have been trying to solve the problem have been trying by private diplomacy to work out some kind of arrangement under which Nasser, while giving no public promises, would let it be understood privately that he would not in fact resume his war.

At this writing, it does not look as if this sort of thing is going to be worked out—what with Nasser, protected by the U.N. and in a position to stand pat, what with Israel, which is a democracy, unable to stake her security on private assurances of what the President, Mr. Dulles and Mr. Hammarskjöld hope and believe they can in the future induce Nasser not to do.

No Assurance

Is there anything else that can be done? As things stand now, if Israel withdraws she will have no assurance from Nasser that he will not wage war. Israel can get no assurances from the U.N. The U.N. will not be permitted to act. All that is left is some kind of assurance by the United States that it will do something about it all in the future.

The easiest thing to do in the present-day United Nations is to prevent it from acting. The obvious thing for us to do is to put off a showdown of votes in the General Assembly and thus to buy time for more secret diplomacy.

Nothing but harm could come of putting to a vote the question of whether sanctions should be taken against Israel in order to compel her to withdraw unconditionally.

If we fail to vote such a resolution, most of the hope of wooing the Arabs, which is the essence of the Eisenhower doctrine, will go up in smoke. If, on the other hand, we join the Arabs, the Afro-Asians and the Soviets to impose sanctions, the unfairness of the action will have far-reaching and it may well be irreparable consequences.

The friends of U.N. in all the blocs have a vital interest in following the advice of the Secretary-General, which is to lay aside the question of sanctions. (Copy'r, 1937, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

DENNIS THE MENACE

Wasted Time

MY inferiority complex is bustin' out all over at the moment. It's bustin' out because I've just finished skimming one of those dreadful self-improvement quizzes that always leave me knowing that I'm a wastrel, fool and heel.

And the question that really threw me this morning was, "Do you waste time aimlessly?"

Yes, I do. I waste a lot of time. Quite aimlessly. There's nothing I like doing better.

This morning, for instance, I wasted time stroking a cat and watching how its paws kneaded in and out.

Quite often, when I'm standing at the kitchen sink, I waste time just looking out of the window and enjoying the antics of such birds as I can see.

Just lately, in the evenings, I've watched the moon rising behind the wooded ridge. I've looked at its light on the mist in the valley, and at the way the branches of the big fir tree stand out so bold and clear.

In summer, I waste endless time watching unidentified insects crawling up blades of grass.

In autumn, the wasted time is frequently spent in watching how the sun shines on a brilliant strand of Virginia creeper that hangs across a certain window.

One day last week, when I was shopping in town, I wasted all of 10 minutes just watching a mechanical shovel scraping dirt out of a ditch. I watched the man who was running it, and I memorized the look of his broad, stubby hands manipulating levers. I looked at his safety helmet perched on top of an ordinary cap, and I thought of what that scene might have been like 100 years ago. I watched a blind woman with a white cane, and saw exactly what she did with her cane, and saw exactly what she did with her cane, and saw exactly what she did with her cane.

Oh, the hours I've wasted aimlessly in bookshops, especially second-hand ones. With my purchase under my arm, I've stood for almost an hour just dipping in and out of books that I had no intention of buying. (Though often I have fallen and bought them after all!)

I'm quite appalled when I think of the hours I've wasted looking at lovely materials and beautiful furniture that I certainly haven't the money to buy. But how I've loved the beauty of them.

Worst of all, I can sit aimlessly for hours, just thinking. Immobility is my middle name!

It seems to me most important that, each day, we should have plenty of "aimless time" to think about the contradictory ideas that come our way.

For instance, I've thought quite a bit about this silly quiz. It must, I think, have been composed by one of those feverish little busybodies who are always rushing around at such a speed that I don't believe they ever stop to look or think at all.

I know it takes all kinds to make a world. But I sometimes wonder whether this continent isn't suffering from too many people who aren't waste time aimlessly because they are scared to death, or bored to tears, the moment they stop to think.

And THAT'S an idea which it might not be a waste of time to contemplate!

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Titles for the Times

LONDON—In line with names for a decade such as The Gay Nineties and The Roaring Twenties, some people here are wondering how future historians will label this decade.

Correspondents in the Sunday Times suggest these, among others: The Frightened Fifties, in view of all the atomic bomb fears; The Busty Fifties, based on such damsels as Marilyn Monroe and the Diana Dors and those who try to emulate them; and The Suezid Fifties.

I'VE JUST SEEN what probably rates as the English habit of queuing carried to the ultimate.

The January sales are on downtown and by now I have become accustomed to the sight of people queuing up on the sidewalks outside shops all night to get first crack at the bargains at opening time. They take their stools and blankets and thermos flasks and sit there through the night chatting and have sing-songs.

Many of the stores co-operate with the queuers to make sure that it really is first come first served. Goods of which there is a limited supply or only a few sizes are numbered in the display windows and when the shoppers rush in as the doors open they merely quote their number in the window to get their bargain.

Overnight queuing for the sales I'd seen before, but there's a new one now.

Reyburn

I was passing Burberrys on Lower Regent Street, one of London's most exclusive men's and women's outfitters, at about four in the afternoon. Lined up outside was a lengthy queue of shoppers. This was a little baffling until I found out the reason for it.

Burberrys as befits their Royal patronage, has a dignified approach to merchandising. They are not above having a sale but when they do they feel customers in their store should not be jostled by bargain-hunters and have to wait for service from harried salesclerks. So, while their sale is on they let in only a few customers at a time, closing the doors and letting in others from the queue only when they feel there's room for them.

Lining up to get into a movie is familiar but queuing to get into a shop certainly looked strange to me.

EARLY CANDIDATE for the title of Hoax of the Year is provided by these pin-up calendars to be seen now in various pubs and garages. It's not only the fact that the girls are revealingly clad that catches the eye. Bold printing on them shows that they purpose to have been sent out by the Lord's Day Observance Society.

Says the society's secretary: "Our dignity is unharmed. I'm sure nobody will take them seriously."

Incidentally, there's a basic difference between calendars here and what is usual in North America. On ours the dates run left-to-right. Here they go top to bottom. Just as much reason for this, probably, as our cars keeping to the right and the English keeping to the left.

Pipe Lines' Prospectus Reveals Tanner Deal

By JOHN LEBLANC

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-

Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.'s prospectus for investors reveals

Nathan E. Tanner, former Alberta mines minister and now company president, exercised an option to buy 55,000 common shares at $8 a share.

Later the stock went on the market at a nominal value of $10 a share. Units comprising a $100 debenture and five shares of common stock were offered for public trading Thursday.

The units, with issued value of $150, brought quotations as high as $165 and then retreated to $160 to $162 in initial trading.

The prospectus also states that Mr. Tanner, making $10,

000 a year as minister when he quit the Alberta government five years ago, now gets $35,

000 as Trans-Canada's president.

In addition, he is guaranteed

a "retirement allowance" of $15,000 a year for five years after he leaves the company.

And he also is assured of his presidency—unless he wants to drop out—up to March 9, 1959.

EXERCISES OPTION

The company, the prospectus states, granted to executive vice-president and general manager C. S. Coates of Toronto—a former Texan—the right to buy 50,000 shares at $8 apiece.

It states that Mr. Coates has exercised his option.

In the case of the general manager—one of the top pipeline builders in the United States before moving to Canada—it was understood that the stock deal was arranged by way of fitting him with a tax-free

CENTENNIAL PROJECTS: LET'S HAVE MORE IDEAS

More suggestions for a Greater Victoria centennial project are wanted by chairman of the local committee, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

He says submissions should be made before the end of this month.

Nine proposals are so far under consideration with the completion of a new wing for Royal Jubilee Hospital favored by a majority of members.

Ald. Edgelow says he does not think the hospital suggestion would be in keeping with the intention of the centennial planners.

Application forms for centennial grants to municipalities are expected to be distributed this week. When the grants are made the local committee will set up an office.

FAMILY HATRED

Son Beats Mother With Rawhide Whip

NEW YORK (AP)—Tibor Foldvary, 29, horsewhipped his mother, accused her of slowly poisoning her children, and turned her in on a gold-hoarding charge. Sunday he was committed to Bellevue Hospital for mental examination.

The bizarre drama of family hatreds reached a climax Saturday when the Hungarian-born mother, Dr. Mary Foldvary, 62, was found unconscious in the hallway of her Bronx apartment.

The son freely admitted to police that he had beaten the former prison physician with a "rawhide gaucha" whip. "She deserves it," he said.

Dr. Foldvary said her son "has been beating me for nearly two years, but this was the worst."

Regals Bid for Sweep

Cats Fourth Again As Canucks Win

Brandon Regals move into Memorial Arena tonight with a chance to wind up their Western Hockey League appearances against Victoria Cougars with a perfect record.

Cougars, back in fourth place in the western division after Vancouver's 3-1 win over Seattle Saturday night, have dropped five successive games to the eastern division pace-setters.

One of the biggest reasons for the Cougars lack of success against the Regals is their old nemesis, goalie Lucien Dechene, who allowed the Victoria club only six goals in the five games. Dechene, a string contender for league all-star honors, has blanked the Cougars twice and held them to one goal in two other occasions.

Canucks skipped back into third place as they snapped a four-game winless skid at Seattle Saturday night, moving a single point ahead of the Cougars as they tripped the division-leading Americans.

FLYERS BREAK OUT

They also gained two points on New Westminster as Edmonton Flyers broke a six-game winless streak, gaining the only victory of their final coast tour with a 3-1 triumph over the Royals at New Westminster.

Regals were upset 4-2 at Calgary in Saturday night's other game.

Playing before 3,295 fans, Canucks grabbed the lead early in the second period when Earl Johnson scored on a play with Jackie McLeod and Phil Maloney.

Bill Wylie and Gordie Pennell put Karl Kaiser into the clear for Vancouver's second goal early in the final period but veteran Alex Kuzma trimmed the lead to 2-1 midway in the period.

Americans pulled goalie Emile Francis in the final 90 seconds. In a last-ditch attempt to stave off defeat but the move backfired as Maloney hit the open net on a shot from the Vancouver blue-line.

ROUGH GAME

Referee Joey Johns had his hands full at New Westminster as Royals and Regals elected to play it rough from start to finish. Johns handed out a total of 21 penalties, including majors to Flyers' Cummings Burton and Pete Durham of Royals.

Durham opened up a bit of a lead in the close race for the league's penalty title, as he collected three minors to go with the major sentence and now has 160 minutes, 12 more than Bill Burega of Winnipeg and 13 more than Victoria's Bill Dobbyn.

Murray Costello and Burton boosted the lead to 3-0 in the second period before Arlo Goodwin fired the lone Royal tally. Stampders scored two goals in the final period at Calgary to whip the Regals. Veteran Sid Finney fired the winner on Archie Scott's pass and Scott drilled an insurance marker with five minutes remaining.

Enio Scissuzzi and Ray Barry counted the other Calgary goals while Les Collwill and Elliott Chorley connected for Brandon. Play was held up briefly when referee Scotty Morrison was shaken up by an accidental check from Scissuzzi.

St. John's Extends Badminton Streak

St. John's maintained its undefeated record in the fourth division of the Lower Island Badminton League Friday night by defeating Lodge Avenue 9-7, at the Lodge Avenue courts.

The club broke even in men's doubles and mixed doubles matches but St. John's gained the victory on the strength of a 3-1 edge in women's doubles.

CLIPPERS BEAT PILS; LEAD COAST PLAYOFF

Nanaimo Clippers survived a shaky third period at Nanaimo Saturday night to down Vancouver Pilseners, 4-3, in the opening game of the Pacific Coast intermediate hockey playoff.

Angie Defelice, Arnie Dugan and Don Ashbee gave Nanaimo a 3-0 lead in the second period before John Hallie gave Pilseners their first goal.

Neil Standley made it 4-1 before the period ended and the Clippers barely managed to hold out against the Pilsener third-period attack that resulted in goals by Hallie and Pete Eades.

May Subs for Nancy; Beats Val for Title

Val Druce finished in a familiar, but unexpected spot as play in the annual Victoria city open table tennis championship was completed at Club Sirotto Saturday night.

Perennial runner-up to Nancy Craig in the city tourney and favored to finally annex the crown this year when Mrs. Craig did not defend the title, Mrs. Druce was upset in the final round by May Wong.

Miss Wong, ranked the 20th women's singles player in Canada, tripped the 18th ranked Mrs. Druce in a four-game battle, 21-14, 21-15, 19-21 and 21-13.

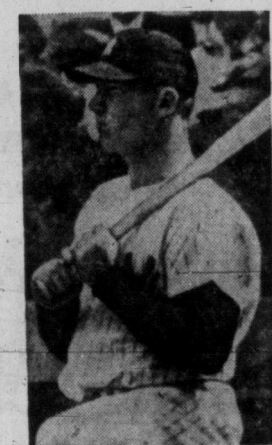

Art Ngai, Canada's second ranked men's singles star, retained his city singles title by defeating Gerry Woolfson in straight games, winning by scores of 21-16, 21-17 and 21-18.

Woolfson won the "A" singles crown by downing Ray Dawson, 21-16, 21-18, 21-17.

Brian Hobbs won the junior singles title by defeating Bob Beckwith, 21-17, 21-18, 21-17, and Tommy Lowe took the novice single final, 21-19, 21-16, 21-18, over Ken Leung.

Laurie Greenwood retained his senior singles diadem with a 21-13, 21-11, 21-18 victory over Ab Renfrew.

MICKEY MANTLE ... year of decision

MANTLE'S LEG PAINS GO DEEP ...

Mickey Has Gas, But Those Wheels...

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—This could be the year of decision in the Hall of Fame case of Mickey Mantle, and the portent today is not too encouraging.

Mantle finally had a great year last season as he won the triple crown. But guys like Willie Mays and Jim Konstanty could tell him that one swallow doesn't make a spring.

And there is evidence again that, while the Oklahoma Kid may have the power of Babe Ruth, the speed of Ty Cobb and the fielding ability of Joe DiMaggio, he also has the fragile legs of a Chippendale chair.

The New York Yankees over the weekend set another of those daffy records which crowd into the record book along with such marks as most putouts by red-headed, left-handed first basemen in a blizzard. Theirs was for the longest time one club held its breath.

From brass hat to batboy they got the shakes when it was reported from the Ball Players' Golf Tournament in Florida that Mantle's right leg was swollen and painful him. It was said by other players that his legs looked wobbly and the American League's "most valuable player" used a motor cart, reserved on most courses for players over 60, to cut down on his walking.

Small wonder the Yankees were alarmed. Because Bill Dewitt, who left the Yanks recently after a hitch as assistant general manager, revealed subsequently that the management pales every time Mickey takes a shower, for fear he might slip on the soap, and almost faints every time he goes after a tough fly ball or slides into a base.

Those legs are the answer—trail bric-a-brac which could collapse and end his career at just about any moment.

First there is that dormant osteomyelitis in his left shin. Then there is that right knee, which dropped him as if he had been shot in the 1951 World Series. The cartilage subsequently was removed but Mantle has to play even now with the knee tightly wrapped.

"You'd be surprised what pain he is in from that knee, particularly after a double-header," Dewitt revealed. "He has to keep it in a special support and requires constant whirlpool treatments."

Now, Mickey says, the swelling is something new again and the question rises as to how much his brittle underpinning can take.

Mantle, who frequently has demonstrated his awesome power, never until last season had made it truly pay off. His highest previous average was .311 and he finally made good with a bang by taking the triple crown on his .353 average.

But when you think back to three years ago, and remember how they were lauding the since-eclipsed Mays, you wonder what now for Mantle. One big season isn't a ticket to Cooperstown and, while he has the gas, it's a question now of whether he has the wheels.

Little Eel, Big Wheel In Late Ranger Drive

Twin Weekend Victories Give Blues Fourth Place

By The Canadian Press

Camille Henry of New York Rangers seems to have that magic quality that makes a hockey player deadly under the nets. But the Rangers refuse to believe it.

The Eel, as he is called by the fans, has been a notable point-producer in every league he's been in, but the New York management seems to have difficulty believing the record and they have kept him bouncing back and forth between the minors and the National Hockey League.

Three weeks ago, with the Rangers in fifth and the situation desperate, they called him up from Providence of the American League again. Today, 15 games later, he has scored eight goals and the Rangers are in fourth.

His seventh and eighth came in weekend games as New York broke a 21-game losing streak on Montreal ice by beating the Canadiens 2-1 Saturday, then shoved Toronto Maple Leafs three points back in fifth place by edging them 3-2 in New York Sunday.

WINGS PULL AWAY

Detroit Red Wings also won both their weekend games and moved eight points ahead of second-place Canadiens, taking Toronto 3-1 Saturday and Boston Bruins 6-2 in Detroit Sunday.

For Don Simmons, Bruins' goaltender, it was a lost weekend as Chicago Black Hawks beat the Bruins 6-5 in Chicago Saturday to give the young netminder a 12-goal two-game total.

Sunday, Chicago gave Montreal its first win since Jan. 31. The Canadiens just made it, 3-2 over the Hawks before 14,189.

Saturday Henry and Dave Creighton scored in the first period, assisting on each other's goals. Don Marshall scored for Montreal just before the period ended.

Sunday before a capacity crowd of 15,925, Henry scored in the first period, then Sid Smith and Brian Cullen put Toronto ahead 2-1 in the second, but Danny Lewicki and Dean Prentice scored for Rangers at 5:40 and 14:08 of the third to wrap it up.

Glenn Hall made the difference in Toronto Saturday as the Leafs outshot the Wings 44-35, but only Tim Horton's 15-footer got past the Detroit netminder.

For the Wings Alex Delvecchio, Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe scored.

Sunday, Gordie scored his 35th and 36th goals of the season as the Wings turned on their full power before 13,610 fans and beat Boston after three consecutive home-ice losses to the Bruins.

In Chicago Saturday Glen Skov scored with only three minutes left in the game to give Black Hawks their 6-5 win over Boston, who dropped into third place, two points behind Montreal.

Eddie Litzenberger was the Hawks big gun, scoring two goals. Litzenberger scored his 24th of the year Sunday and Eric Nesterenko, who assisted on three Saturday, added a second in the first period as Chicago led Montreal 2-1. But in the second period Maurice Richard and Floyd Curry added to Andre Pronovost's first-period goal to give Montreal the victory.

Stops Vancouverite

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Ewart Potgieter, the giant South African heavyweight making his ring debut under manager Sid Flaherty, stopped Dave Roy, 200, of Vancouver, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here Saturday night.

The 335-pound, seven-foot-two-inch South African took ponderous swings that landed mostly on the gloves of Roy, but one caught on the side of the head in the fifth and bounced him off the ropes and onto the floor.

In a junior button match played at the Oak Bay Links Sunday, Dale Dalziel and Bill Wakeham defended their honors for the third time as they squeezed past Norm Boden and Al McLeod, 1 up.

CALGARY (CP)—Matt Baldwin of Edmonton Saturday night captured the provincial curling championship for the third time in four years. He will represent Alberta in the Dominion championships at Kingston.

Baldwin, Dominion champion in 1954, earned his third chance at the coveted title with a 9-8 victory over Art Simpson of Bassano on the final draw Saturday night.

More than 2,000 fans saw the game, the third clash between the two rinks in the provincial playoffs this year. Simpson won the first game 7-5 Friday night but Baldwin came back to square accounts Saturday morning with a 9-8 win.

VIC HIGH TOURNEY CHAMP

Totems Keep Dockers Down

Gerry Horne, coach of the Esquimalt High School Dockers, must be of the opinion by now that he's in a rut in the Lower Vancouver Island Basketball Tournament.

Last year, when Mount View hosted the affair, Esquimalt gained the finals only to be swamped by Vic High Totems, 48-21. This year it happened again.

In the final of the '57 tournament at Vic High Saturday night, Barky Andrews' well-drilled Totems once again proved their mastery over local competition as they handed Dockers a 52-22 defeat.

But the tournament was not a total loss for Horne's crew, as their berth in the finals made them one of the three teams which will be competing in the Island finals at Duncan, March 8-9.

Earlier Saturday, Gary Taylor's Oak Bay High team had also entered the charmed three with a 36-29 win over stubborn Mount View Hornets.

Hornets put up only token resistance in the first quarter as Oak Bay ran up a 17-4 lead.

The second period wasn't much more productive, and at the half Hornets trailed 21-7.

It was a different story from then on, however, as Hornets put on a determined drive that just fell short as the clock ran out.

The Totem-Docker clash, which immediately followed the Oak Bay win, was a complete reverse of its predecessor.

Dockers started out as if they were going to make it a battle and at the end of the first frame they were ahead, 8-7, as they countered Totem lay-ups with long shots.

Halfway through the second quarter the score stood at 12-12, but from then on it was all Totems as Esquimalt suffered a lapse of shooting skill.

At the half it was 22-12 for Totems, and the issue was fairly well in hand at the three-quarter mark as Vic High enjoyed a 32-16 lead.

Dave Wilson of Totems led all scorers with 16 points.

In consolation games, St. Louis College captured fourth spot with a 37-27 win over Mount Douglas. Loss dropped Mount Douglas to sixth position, while Belmont put North Saanich in the cellar with a 40-27 win that gave them seventh place.

Jimmie Demaret of Klamath, Lake, who started the round leading with 202 for 54 holes, took a three-over-par and had 276 for 72 holes.

Canadian players, including Toronto's Al Balding who was eight strokes behind the leader going into the final round, finished out of the money.

Balding's score was 71-71-67-284. George Knudson, Winhole, the clincher on the final pulled him ahead of Ed Furgol, the St. Andrew's III, veteran.

Hebert wound up with a four-under-par 67 on the last 18 holes while Furgol had a 68

Brodies on Top After 6-3 Win

Brodies Bakery pulled five goals out of the oven in the second half at Central Park Sunday and the king-sized batch boosted the Bakers into sole possession of first place in the Victoria and District Football League's second-half race.

Deadlocked for the top spot with undefeated Gorge Hotel, Canadian Scottish and Butler Brothers going into the game, Brodies whipped the Scots, 6-3, to climb two points out in front of the pack.

Tillicums grabbed a share of second place by blanking Heaneys, 2-0, at Heywood Avenue Park and Esquimalt gained its first point of the second half by playing to a 1-1 draw with Punjab United at Beacon Hill in Sunday's two other matches.

HUGHES GETS TWO Don Jones opened the scoring for Brodies at Central Park, but Archie Taylor connected on a penalty kick to give the Scots a 1-1 tie at the intermission. Two goals by Don Hughes and single tallies by Jones, Ken Hibbert and Charlie White were the ingredients of the Bakers' second-half recipe while the other Scottish goals were cooked up by Neil Standley and Ernie Eastlake.

Tillicums and Heaneys struggled through a scoreless opening half, but Tillicums jumped into the lead five minutes after the intermission on a goal by Willie Voht and salted away the decision on Tim Walker's tally at 25 minutes.

Adrian Hendriksen gave Punjab a 1-0 margin at the Beacon and Leroy Bond evened the count for Esquimalt in the second session at Beacon Hill.

GEORGE ADVANCES In Saturday's lone match, Gorge Hotel, unbeaten in league play but ousted in two previous cup competitions, survived the opening round of Province Cup play by clipping Butler Brothers, 2-0, at Royal Athletic Park.

Both goals in the rugged match came in first-half action. Bob Clark opened the scoring after eight minutes and burly Charlie Constable wrapped things up at 25 minutes.

Next cup match is scheduled at Royal Athletic Park next Saturday when Heaneys meet Esquimalt.

A league meeting has been scheduled in the Chamber of Commerce board room, Black Ball Ferry building, Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

MAYBE THEY WILL MIND NEXT HUNTING SEASON

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Nine deer are ringing bells in the northern California hills.

The State Fish and Game Department reported Sunday it had belled the deer to learn "whether the same deer return year after year to the same area."

The bells are about the same size as those worn by sheep. Department experts said the deer don't seem to mind.

Bells used in a similar experiment last year weren't so popular when they were hung on coyotes.

LOWE SETS RECORD

Flyers Win Title On Goal Average

By The Canadian Press
Spokane Flyers of the Western International Hockey League became champions at the end of regular league play Saturday night, but only on their season goal average.

They ended in a tie for first place with Trail Smoke Eaters, who came bouncing into that position with a series of wins as the schedule closed.

Saturday night, in the last regular games before playoffs, Spokane defeated last-place Rossland, 6-2, and Trail trounced Nelson Maple Leafs, 7-2.

Nelson and Trail will meet in one bracket for the best-of-seven semifinals and Spokane and Rossland will meet in the other.

In the sister Okanagan Senior Hockey League, play also finished Saturday. Playoffs begin tonight in both leagues.

Odie Lowe scored two goals and an assist to set up an OSHL scoring record as he helped Vernon, the undisputed league leaders, to an 8-3 victory over third-place Kelowna Packers.

Lowe garnered a total of 114 points this season, one more than Grant Warwick's total last season.

CHIEFS EXTEND SKEIN Kamloops Chiefs, finishing in second place, marked up their 13th consecutive win on home ice and ended Penticton's hopes of a third-place position with a 9-3 victory over the former world hockey champs.

Chiefs were paced by Howie Hornby, who finished the night with a hat trick.

In the OSHL playoffs tonight, Penticton meets Vernon. Tuesday Kamloops will play Kelowna.

The Savage Cup competition, to be played between the winner in the OSHL finals and the winner in the WHL, will start March 18.

Tillicums, Lance Keep on Rolling

Tillicums and Lance Rutherford are still chugging along in high gear in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association.

Although fielding a makeshift, 10-player team because of injuries and illness, Tillicums, Division I leaders, smashed Canadian Scottish of Division II, 7-0 at Windsor Park.

And once again it was the lanky Rutherford who sparked the Tillicum attack.

Rutherford scored three times and Ken Leibel once as the clubmen grabbed a 4-0 lead in the opening half. In the second half, Tom Collett and Rutherford, with his fourth and fifth goals, completed the scoring.

Tillicums have scored 60 goals this season and the towering centre forward has accounted for exactly half the total.

In Sunday's other match, Optimists, the Division II leaders, came close to a major upset as they held MacNutt's Grocery of Division I, to a 1-1 draw.

After a scoreless opening half, Daryl McIntyre gave Optimists the lead at five minutes and the lead held up until the dying minutes, when a clever goal by Stan Margelash salvaged the tie for MacNutt's.

Alan Glen missed a golden chance to give Optimists the win, firing wide on a penalty shot just at the final whistle.

In Saturday's games, the 10-game Division III winning streak of Fuller's Clippers came to an end and the Clippers needed a last-minute goal by Larry Fletcher to salvage a 2-2 tie with Eagles.

Heaneys of Division IV extended their shutout skein through a third game by blanking Eagles of Division V, 4-0; Optimists and ANAF V

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of the Canadian edition of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Peg Wheeldon, aged 11, 548 View Royal Avenue, Victoria, B.C., for her question: Does the Kodiak Bear hibernate?

The Kodiak bear rates as the biggest meat-eating animal in North America--and possibly on the entire earth. Full grown, he may weigh more than three large elephants. But for all his size, he cannot cope with the long winter night of his native Alaska. Not that the cold bothers him much. There just is no food around for him to eat. So he finds himself a cosy cave and goes to sleep. He does until spring beckons out the buds and green leaves, wakens the little animals out of their burrows and fills the gushing streams with fish.

This big bruin has a number of aliases. This does not make him a criminal type. He tends to avoid people rather than get into a fight. Big bruin is named for Kodiak Island off the shores of Alaska just below the Arctic Circle. He is an Alaska Brown Bear and sometimes all these bears are called Kodiaks. Sometimes the Alaskan Bear is divided into six or eight varieties of which the Kodiak is counted as one. In this case, the name Kodiak bear applies to the Alaskan Brown Bears living on Kodiak Island and the nearby mainland. There the people often solve the name problem by calling big bruin Old Silvertips.

In April or early May, Old Silvertips yawns and stretches in his cave. Soon, he may be seen grazing on the slopes. Also present is Mama Kodiak with her two cubs. Change in Church Hours Opposed By Clergyman

COURTENAY (CP)--An Anglican clergyman says changing the hours of Sunday worship to meet modern living habits would be disowning Christ.

Rev. J. J. Van der Leest, rector of Courtenay's Anglican church, was commenting on a minister's suggestion that hours of services should be fixed so as not to conflict with TV programs and other entertainment.

"Changing the hours of worship for worldly pleasures; how ever good they may be, would be disowning Christ," Mr. Van

TOSCANINI BURIED AT MILAN

A Maestro Returns As Watchers Mourn

ROME (AP) — The maestro came home Sunday night to rest.

What's he so SATISFIED about?

SEE PAGE-7

Under a brilliant blue sky, a massive lead and oak casket containing the remains of Arturo Toscanini, lion of Italian music for more than 60 years, was wheeled gently out of the plane which brought it here from New York, where the maestro died Jan. 16 at the age of 89.

Four simple wreaths and 500 silent mourners awaited Toscanini.

It was a moving moment. Airport workers wept and a number knelt in prayer.

There were no speeches, no ceremonies.

The casket was carried north in a special coach of the overnight Rome-Milan express.

At Milan the casket was placed in the foyer of La Scala opera house for two hours for friends and admirers to pay their last tributes.

Burial was at the simple family chapel, in Milan's memorial cemetery, which he built for a son who died in 1906.

Playhouse 90 Tops 'Emmy' Nominations

By BOB THOMPSON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Playhouse 90, CBS' innovation in 90-minute drama, has captured leading honors in the race for television's Emmy—similar to the Oscars awarded in movies.

The show won 13 nominations in various categories of the TV academy's ninth annual awards. Following was Kraft Theatre with six.

Sparked by Playhouse 90, CBS collected mythical honors with 72 nominations, followed by a rival.

Nanette Fabray, Hitchcock Among Puzzlers

A wide open race was predicted after the nominations, which were not as confused as in recent years. There were some puzzlers, however.

Nanette Fabray, who won two Emmies last year, was nominated for best comedian because of Caesar's Hour, on which she no longer appears. She competes in that category with Edie Adams, Gracie Allen, Lucille Ball and Ann Sothern.

Alfred Hitchcock is nominated as one of the best male personalities, though he appears for only about two minutes weekly to introduce his spine-chillers. His competition: Steve Allen, Leonard Bernstein, Perry Como and Tennessee Ernie Ford.

Other nominations included: Best single performance, actor: Lloyd Bridges, Tragedy in a Temporary Town; Frederic March, Dodsworth; Sal Mineo, Dino; Jack Palance, Requiem for a Heavyweight, and Red Skelton, The Big Slide.

Best single performance, actress: Edna Best, This Happy Breed; Gracie Fields, Old Lady Shows Her Medals; Nancy Kelly, The Pilot; Evelyn Rudie, Eloise and Claire Trevor, Dodsworth.

Best supporting performance, actor: Art Carney, Paul Ford, William Frawley, Carl Reiner and Ed Wynn.

Best supporting performance, actress: Pat Carroll, Ann B. Davis, Audrey Meadows, Mildred Natwick and Vivian Vance.

There are a couple of really good reasons for seeing the Victoria Theatre Guild production of "Anastasia" at Langham Court Theatre this week.

When the excessively talky play and its meandering out-lines have been lost to memory, the performance of Pat Fairweather in her tragic and regal role of the Dowager Empress, will remain an outstanding one in amateur theatre annals.

Second, in order of merit, must be placed a small character bit by Vaughan Barker.

A fairly smooth-running opening night was attended Saturday by a sell-out audience with several non-ticket-holders turned away at the door.

POWERFUL, SINCERE

Mrs. Fairweather's performance was powerful, moving and sincere. She conveyed the knowledge that her heartbreak was of long years' duration, that she had learned to live with it and without hope.

Her acting was almost the only genuine bit of creative art in the production, but it was enough to make the evening worthwhile.

Vanessa Lax as the rumored Anastasia was pictorially delightful and has good qualities as an actress, but her interpretation in this case was off-key.

Her voice was kept too light and bodiless for one thing. For another, her appeal was that of a lost and bewildered child rather than a mature woman whose mind is shadowed by the horrors of the past.

UNREWARDING PART

Tommy Mayne and Russ Gurney gave competent performances, the latter in an unrewarding part. David Shearer's Prince Bounine was not sufficiently authoritative, shrewd or cold-blooded to be effective and neither his gestures nor his posture suggested the general of Don Cossacks he was supposed to have been.

Water Reveals

Whisky's true flavour

Water (plain or sparkling) is your most reliable guide to the whole truth about any whisky. Water adds nothing, detracts nothing, but reveals a whisky's true natural flavour and bouquet. Put Seagram's "83" to the water test and you'll agree—to be that good with water, it must be a superb whisky and a more satisfying drink with any man's favourite mixer.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Royal Commission on Employment of Firemen on Diesel Locomotives in Freight and Yard Service on the Canadian Pacific Railway

By Order-in-Council P.C. 1957-52 dated 17 January 1957, this Commission was appointed to inquire into and report upon all matters it deems necessary in order to answer, and to answer the following questions:

"(a) Are firemen (or firemen (helpers)) required on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service of the Canadian Pacific Railway (including the Eastern, Prairie and Pacific regions and the Quebec Central and Dominion Atlantic Railways)?"

"(b) If not, what terms and conditions, which would be fair to the firemen, to those who use the Railway, to the Railway Company, and to its other employees, should be observed by the Railway for the purpose of protecting firemen now in its employ against the consequences of the loss of such employment and seniority therein?"

"(c) Should the provisions in the present agreements between the Railway Company and the Brotherhood concerning 'arbitrariness' and the 'mountain differential' be maintained, dropped or modified, and if in the opinion of the Commission they should be modified, how and to what extent?"

Public hearings upon these matters will be held by the Commission commencing Monday March 4 at 10.30 a.m. in the Supreme Court Building, Ottawa.

Persons or organizations wishing to bring information to the attention of the Commission should communicate with the Secretary, Room 95, Supreme Court Building, Ottawa.

U.S. Lumber Purchase Protested

VANCOUVER (CP)—A union official charged that the government-owned B.C. Power Commission has bought lumber products in the U.S. when the same materials were available in B.C.

Al Staley, secretary of the Council of Carpenters, made the complaint in a letter to Premier Bennett.

"Most of the material was laminated timber for high level work on the Upper Campbell Lake hydro project," said Mr. Staley. "It was purchased from the Weyerhaeuser Corporation in Washington, but plants in Vancouver could have made it."

A spokesman for Timber Preserves Ltd. in New Westminster said his company held the contract for the materials but "nobody (in B.C.) was interested in the job."

The official said all the B.C. plants were busy and local prices were higher than the U.S. bid.

Clothespeg Letter Holder For Your Home or Office

By PENNY SAVER

Such a handy gadget... why couldn't I have thought of making it? Here's an ordinary clothespin that has taken on a new role. The flat sides of the pins have larger, easily-gripped wooden pieces added, so that it will stand on the desk. It looks like a desk letter holder, which it is, but it is different in that letters are held between the clothespin itself. Squeeze the sides, slip the letters to be answered between the grips, and there they are, handy, in sight and ready to be dealt with. On the side is written "To Answer," and stamps of many countries speckle the bright surface. It's a novelty that serves a useful purpose, and is as much fun to give as to receive. They're priced at $1.29.

Another holder, of a completely different type is one of the new arrivals in town. I found little plastic buckle-like gadgets that are meant to keep over-the-shoulder straps of the youngsters' overalls in place. These slotted buckles hold the straps together at the centre back, and keep them from slipping off the shoulders. The straps are just slipped under smooth-edged plastic prongs. Easy to put on, they come on cards of two pairs for 35 cents. They're brightly colored, and will match or contrast the youngsters' outfits.

In roaming about town, I found very attractive tie silk ladies' robes that are so smart, and... so inexpensive! Pink, grey and turquoise highlights make these coin-dotted robes favorites. The price, amazingly low for such value, is $6.98.

Canada's First Woman Lawyer Dies in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Ethel M. Kirkpatrick, 79, daughter of the late Sir William and Lady Sarah Mulock and widow of Col. Arthur E. Kirkpatrick, died last week. As a student, and in the interest of one of her teachers, Clara Brett Martin, who wished to become a lawyer, the then Ethel Mulock influenced her father in the arrangement permitting women to study law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and to be called to the bar.

Miss Martin was the first woman in Canada to practise law. When her father was post-master-general of Canada, Mrs. Kirkpatrick spent much of her time in Ottawa, staying with Sir Wilfred and Lady Laurier. Her husband died in 1955. She was former chairman of the Navy League of Canada's tag day, for which she was given an award of merit for service. She retained her enthusiasm for fishing into her early 70s.

GIRL GUIDES

Sooke — Mrs. W. S. Emmerton, district commissioner of Girl Guides, will be guest speaker at the annual meeting of Sooke Girl Guide Association to be held tonight in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Gibson, Sooke Road. Election of officers will also be held.

Sooke — To commemorate the centenary year of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Guide movement, Sooke division will hold a guide rally on Thinking Day next Friday at Colwood at 7.30 p.m. Each company will give a skit to cover an eight-year period of guiding over the past 48 years. The program will conclude with a campfire and refreshments. Members, parents and guides of the division may attend. Belmont Park will hold its Thinking Day church parade in Belmont Park next Sunday and other companies in the district will join for a service in Gordon United Church.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For some time now most of us have been aware that music is being used in rehabilitation and as therapies of different sorts. However, I doubt that you knew in how many varied ways melody is being employed today.

The first time I realized that I was in contact with piped or "canned" music was some years ago when I went to my favorite beauty salon to have my hair fixed. They were running late and I had quite a wait. However, the loveliest music filled the air and although I am always busy I did not feel irritated by the delay.

I said to the owner of the shop, "This music is wonderful! We do not usually get such a good selection over our radio. Are you playing records?" He replied, "No. This is canned music." I said, "You no doubt have this to soothe your customers while they wait." He answered, "Yes. It is so soothing that I sold myself a brush this morning."

Today piped program music goes to hotels, factories, restaurants, offices, clinics, hospital delivery rooms, airplanes, dentists' offices, trains, supermarkets, banks, libraries, passenger ships, reducing salons, insurance companies, police stations, post offices, and almost every other place you can think of. At least one swimming pool has program music which you hear only when under water and there is a filling station where music begins whenever the gasoline pump is raised.

TODAY'S RECIPE

WESTERN CHICKEN PIE

One small onion, 1 stalk celery, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-1/2 teaspoon rosemary, 2 cups cream and chicken stock, 2 cups large cooked chicken pieces, 1 cup pitted ripe olives, cornbread crust.

CORNBREAD CRUST

Half cup uncooked yellow cornmeal, 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg, 2 1/2 cup milk, 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine.

Chop onion and celery fine; cook in butter until soft but not browned. Blend in flour, salt and rosemary. Stir in cream and chicken stock, slowly; cook and stir until smooth and thickened, about 5 to 10 minutes. Add chicken and olives, and turn into baking pan or casserole. Pour cornbread batter evenly over top. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes or just until crust is baked and golden brown.

Cornbread Crust—Sift cornmeal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into a bowl. Add all remaining ingredients and beat to a smooth thin batter. Makes 6 servings.

On Etiquette

About Unwanted Presents:

In what polite way can I tell a person that I would appreciate not receiving a Christmas or birthday gift from her?

It seems that I get items she receives, and cannot use and she passes them on to me, which I also cannot use. One of these items is lipstick and face powder, which are not my shades and which are also personal things. I also get items of clothing which are too large. I don't dare tell this person about the wrong shade, etc., as it might embarrass her, and I think I would feel funny telling her.

Louise Davis Answers:

There is nothing that you can do. Friendship and acquaintance are too precious for quibbling over such unimportant things. I suggest that you graciously accept these things from someone who thinks enough of you to want to give you something, whether it is to your liking or not. So be thankful for the thought and forget the rest. If you have reason to believe that the clothing you received were recent purchases, you can try to exchange them for the correct size. As for the other items you get and cannot use, why not just put them away, and dispose of them when you have the opportunity? Just be grateful for friends who want to remember you, regardless of what they give. You can express your sincere thanks too without being a hypocrite even to yourself.

Remember Guide Pioneers Div. Commissioner Urges

First annual meeting of Gonzales Division of the Girl Guides was held at Pandora Street headquarters with division commissioner Mrs. Keith Macdougall in the chair. Special guests were Mrs. F. W. Midgley, area commissioner; Mrs. W. S. Emmerton, camp adviser and district commissioner; and Mrs. C. H. Seney, Lady Douglas Division commissioner.

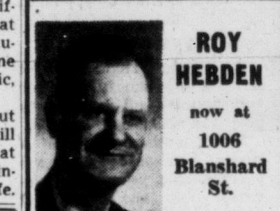

In her address Mrs. Macdougall suggested that in this Girl Guide centennial year of 1957 thought be given to pioneers in the movement. Good turns done by Guides during the past year included care of trefoils at memorial trees in Windsor Park; making paper flowers for float in PNE parade; making corsages and candy and helping at free food stall, and with a needy family.

Uniforms were made for the Orphanage Pack and semaphore flags were also presented to this pack.

Camp reports given by Mrs. A. W. Lash, Mrs. R. Scott-Moncrieff and Mrs. H. Piedt showed a new roof put on the hut, work done with plumbing and a cheque received from the Independent Order of Foresters.

Reports were given as follows: East District, Mrs. F. A. Robinson, for Miss D. Stocken; Central District, Mrs. J. Hunter; Cedar Hill District, Mrs. F. G. P. Maurice; treasurer, H. B. Brooks.

Mrs. Midgley told of a 397 increase in numbers bringing the total to 615 Guides and 1,157 Brownies. She also presented a coffee spoon to Mrs. A. Westinghouse in appreciation of her work as a Brownie trainer.

Lovely Bridal Ensemble of Blue Worn by Mary Patricia Thorpe

Recently in St. John's Church at Colwood, Rev. H. J. Jones officiated at the marriage of Mary Patricia Thorpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thorpe, Millstream Road, Langford, and Milton Barry Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Donald Fisher, Glen Lake Road, Glen Lake. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were placed on the altar for the ceremony. Mrs. Fraser played traditional bridal music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pale blue embroidered nylon gown fashioned with gracefully styled floor-length skirt, a strapless bodice and matching jacket with elbow-length sleeves. A blue velvet halo headdress studded with seed pearls held her blue chapel veil. Completing her charming ensemble, the bride carried a bouquet of American beauty roses and lily of the valley surrounded with nylon ruching from which cascaded satin streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Donald K. Fisher, who chose a floor-length gown of pale pink embossed nylon fashioned with strapless bodice and tiny jacket. She wore elbow-length gloves of pink net and halo-hat and shoes in the same shade. Her bouquet was of white carnations with pink streamers.

Thomas Whitney Thorpe, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Donald K. Fisher and Robert Fisher, brothers of the groom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where yellow and mauve chrysanthemums decorated the rooms. A lace cloth covered bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. Pink carnations in silver vases completed the arrangement. F. J. Willway proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling, the bride wore an imported black wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink American beauty roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have made their home in Glen Lake.

Queen to Visit Ottawa in Fall?

OTTAWA — Possibility of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh paying a brief visit to Canada this fall will be discussed by Prime Minister St. Laurent with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, when the two statesmen confer in Bermuda next month.

The Royal couple is expected to visit the United States this autumn.

Authoritative sources in Washington said Sunday the Queen has accepted "unofficially" President Eisenhower's invitation to take part in the 350th anniversary celebrations in connection with the founding of the first permanent English settlement on this continent, at Jamestown in Virginia.

said today "there are no plans for a Royal visit to the United States or Canada, at present." Should Her Majesty and the duke decide to come to Canada this fall it is likely the visit would be a short one of two or three days' duration at the most. They would only visit Ottawa.

Caught Again At Gun-Point

Re-arrested at gunpoint after escaping from Victoria police station Saturday, safecracker Michael A. Gorak pleaded guilty today to four charges—two of breaking, entering and theft, one of possession of burglar tools, and escaping custody.

He was captured at gunpoint early Sunday, 10½ hours after jumping 14 feet to freedom out a second-storey window in the city detective bureau, where he was waiting to be charged with committing Friday night break-ins.

Const. Lorne Johnson fired two shots in the air to stop the suspect, running away from a police car across Victoria High School grounds.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Gorak to Wednesday.

The accused said only: "I would like to make a plea on Wednesday."

The 32-year-old Gorak has spent 11 years and three months in Western Canada prisons for various offences, including

SHARES SOUP IN CHURCH

Caretaker's Tip Snares Escapee

By AB KENT

A 70-year-old church caretaker was responsible for the capture early Sunday of confessed safecracker Michael A. Gorak after the suspect spent part of Saturday night in Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1279 Gladstone.

John MacBeath, 70, 1908 Fernwood, tipped police regarding Gorak's activities in the Fernwood-Gladstone area after sharing a tin of soup and some canned pineapple with him in the church basement.

Actual capture was made at gunpoint shortly after 7 a.m. by Cons. Lorne Johnson, of city police.

ACTED NERVOUS

The caretaker, who knew of Gorak's escape from the police station, did not become suspicious immediately, but got wary when his companion at the impromptu supper Saturday night started to act nervous.

Here is his story: "I went into the church to open it up for the Teen-Time group at 6.15. There he was warming himself a can of soup on the electric stove. Quite a cool customer.

"He invited me to have a bowl of soup with him. He had a can of pineapple there, too.

"I was gracious enough to sit down with him, and he told me his name was Wilson.

"He finished the soup and pineapple—which I think he bought at a store; he didn't take it from the church—and began to get a little nervous.

"He said his mother was expecting him for supper. I was beginning to get a little worried.

LEFT DISHES

"He left his dirty dishes in the sink and went out, but I don't think he left the church. "I washed the dishes and phoned the police as soon as I got home.

"The police came while I was having a cup of coffee at the store (nearby) and I told them I thought he was still around the church. They said he would be miles away by this time."

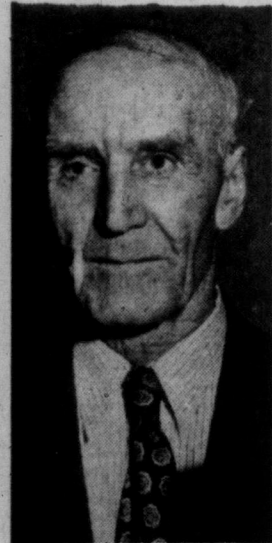

Mr. MacBeath then went home, getting up early to do his work in the church, about a block away.

SLEPT IN CHURCH

"I met him again Sunday morning (about 6 o'clock) at the corner of Fernwood and Gladstone. I believe he spent the night in the church. We saw a place in the basement where he had made a bed out of sacks and sawdust.

"He spoke to me on the street. He said, 'Good morning. You're up early this morning.' I said, 'So are you,' and he said he was going to work.

"I went and phoned the police. I think I did the right thing by playing along with him the night before."

City Airmen Cheat Death In Winnipeg Bomber Crash

SIX WALKED AWAY FROM THIS RCAF WRECK

Six RCAF men, including two Victorians, escaped serious injury when this RCAF Mitchell bomber plowed into a residential section of St. James, Man., a suburb of Winnipeg, while coming in to land at Winnipeg's Stevenson Field Sunday night. The plane damaged three houses before landing on the first floor of an unfinished house and poking its nose into a bungalow whose occupants were away. No one on the ground was injured. The two city men visited their homes here on the weekend. (AP Wirephoto.)

OTTAWA READY TO SELL URANIUM TO FRIENDS

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is prepared to sell uranium to "friendly governments" for peaceful purposes, Trade Minister Howe announced today.

"Except for the control provisions," he added, "sales arrangements concluded under bilateral agreements will be on a normal commercial basis."

70 Die in Funeral Pyre At Missouri Home for Aged

WARREN, Mo. (AP) — Firemen poked through the smouldering ruins of an old folks home today for the bodies of at least 70 persons who died in the blazing funeral pyre within minutes Sunday.

The searchers, working in spots cooled off by streams of water, had found 16. A deadly stench filled the air. Smoke and steam continued to rise from the ruins.

Seventy of the 155 patients, including 45 women, were reported missing in the fast-spreading fire. A ripping explosion followed. One eyewitness said the entire building was aflame in three or four minutes. Another said about 15. Authorities were baffled by the speed with which the flames raced through the two-story brick building.

The victims ranged in age up to 99 years.

One child was among those missing and presumed dead. She was Susan Kay Pfister, 17-year-old invalid daughter of Mrs. Alice Watts of Lynn, Ark.

The charred bodies were found buried in a pile of twisted iron beds, plumbing fixtures, brick and mortar in the basement. Some, all but cremated, were so badly burned they were put in cardboard cartons little more than a foot square.

The building went down by floors. The roof fell in. The second floor followed and it all collapsed into the basement.

FUNERAL TUESDAY

Funeral for Samuel P. Cromie, 39, assistant publisher and vice-president of the Vancouver Sun, drowned in a boating tragedy Saturday, will be held in Vancouver Tuesday, at 3.30. Also drowned was Derek Dix, 39, Neon Products Co. executive. (See story, page 7.)

Plane Roars Into Houses —No One Hurt

Two Victoria men had a miraculous escape from death Sunday at Winnipeg when their RCAF twin-engine bomber crashed in a residential area.

Neither occupants nor residents were seriously hurt, although the huge plane bounced off houses and knocked down garages.

The plane carried a crew of three and three passengers. Included were:

FO Douglas Gibson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Gibson, 4225 Quadra.

Flt.-Sgt. R. F. Hawes, about 40, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hawes, 2522 Belmont.

FO Gibson received a slight head cut in the crash. Flt.-Sgt. Hawes was unhurt.

Only one of the four other occupants of the ill-fated aircraft was held in hospital. He has possible back injuries.

Both the Victoria men had been in the city visiting relatives on the weekend. Their plane had left Vancouver for Winnipeg early Sunday, completing the return leg of a navigational flight.

The pilot, FO J. S. Sargent, of Westwood, Ont., reported engine trouble as he neared Stevenson Field, adjoining residential St. James, a Winnipeg suburb.

Roaring down through the early evening darkness, the plane slammed the roof of the home of James Mair, at the same time leaving part of its fuselage embedded in the house next door occupied by Maxwell Orchard and knocking the chimney from the home of Steve Reynolds. The three homes are side by side.

rious injury but a man in the garage was fatally injured.
The bomber crashed seemed likely to stir protests from residents of the area whose safety would be threatened by any future crashes.

Mayor T. B. Findlay said he has asked for a detailed report of findings of an RCAF hearing on the crash.

HOME SHOCK

Mrs. Orchard said she and her husband and young son were all in their house when the crash came. "We just stood stock still waiting for the roof to come in. Then we all ran outside in our bare feet."

The temperature was zero and the ground was covered with snow.

Joan Mair, 18, was in her family's two-storey frame home with her mother, Mrs. Mary Mair; her sister, Laura, 9, and her grandmother, Mrs. Anne Mair.

"I heard it coming and I thought it was going to hit and I pulled up the blind," she said. Just then it did hit.

Mrs. Reynolds said their home shook when the plane hit the chimney.

FO R. A. Askew, who lives across the street from where the plane came to rest, was at the airport when the crash occurred.

"I thought it was right in my front door and I rushed up here," he said. "The first thing I saw was the co-pilot wandering around in a daze."

"I brought him over to the house, patched him up and gave him a cup of tea."

Flt-Sgt. Hawes joined the RAF in 1939 and transferred to the RCAF six years later. He was mentioned in dispatches during the Second World War. Married, he has three children at his present home in Winnipeg.

Relatives of both men said it was the first time either had been involved in a crash.

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill proposed to use Canadian troops for a landing in Norway on January, 1943, after British service chiefs had twice vetoed the idea, says a new war history.

The book, "The Turn of the Tide," by Sir Arthur Bryant, is based on the war diaries and later notes of Field Marshal Viscount Alanbrooke, Britain's leading strategist of the Second World War.

Rebuffed by his chiefs, Churchill then invited Canadian army commander Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton to discuss Norway. Alanbrooke said McNaughton told him before seeing Churchill that "he would not dream of accepting such a task for his troops."

Man Runs Amok Killing Six, Takes Own Life

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—A Polish immigrant went berserk in a Brisbane suburb today, killing six persons before taking his own life. Slain were his wife and child, a mother and her two daughters and another girl.

Marie Majka, 30, who spent her war in a German concentration camp, battered his wife and child to death. He then entered the home of his Scottish immigrant neighbor, Ramsay Irvine, 33; her daughters, Ann, 12, and Maureen, 9, and another girl, Lynette Karger, 12. He poured kerosene over their bodies and set them afire.

Mrs. Irvine's six-month-old daughter, Elaine, was found lying under her mother's body, suffering from burns and wounded foot. Irvine was at work at the time.

Alanbrooke, was chief of the Imperial General Staff and chairman of the British Chiefs of Staff Committee for most of the war.

Alanbrooke tells how Churchill had promised Stalin an invasion of Norway, only to find his chiefs of staff would not agree to it while the North African operation was being carried out in the latter half of 1942.

After his interview with Churchill, Alanbrooke said, "a limp-looking McNaughton walked into my room and literally poured himself into my armchair."

"I asked him how he had got on. He informed me that he had had a ghastly weekend. 'He had been kept up till all hours of the morning until he didn't know which way he was facing. Winston's control of the English language... had left him dumfounded.'"

Two days later, the book discloses, Churchill was planning to send the Canadian commander to Moscow for immediate conversations with Stalin.

But by this time the Canadian government had considered the proposal and vetoed it.

breaking and entering. He was released from the penitentiary only three weeks ago.

Const. Johnson captured Gorak just after 7 a.m. Sunday as he ran across Victoria High School grounds. Two warning shots were fired by Johnson to stop the fugitive.

DRAGNET OUT

Detectives and uniform police in several prowling cars were searching the neighborhood on a tip from Emmanuel Baptist Church caretaker John MacBeath, who had spoken to Gorak only 50 minutes before at Fernwood and Gladstone, opposite the school.

Gorak elected trial by magistrate on the four charges, to which he pleaded guilty.

Det. Andrews told the court he went in company with Det. Deans Blackstock at 8 a.m. Saturday to Canadian National Railways offices at 1101 Government, where entry had been made by forcing a window and dial knocked off three safes.

One safe was entered—the one in the ticket office—and money was missing. In the telephone office three desk drawers were jimmied.

At 8.15 a.m. the detectives went to Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, 625 Courtney, where they found an office door jimmied and the dial knocked off a walk-in vault.

In a bar room, entry had been gained by a window and a number of cupboards smashed open behind the bar. Twenty-six cartons of cigarettes and some cigars of a total value of about $80 were stolen.

MONEY FOUND

They were found with money and documents from the CNR offices in room 206 of the Windsor Hotel, Courtney Street, where detectives also found Gorak in bed at 8.45 a.m.

A search of the rooms disclosed safe-cracking tools and the rest of the loot.

There was $137 in cash and a cheque.

At 9.05 a.m. Saturday, Gorak was taken to the detective office.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, denied Sunday he had discussed the purchase or sale of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway with Premier Bennett of British Columbia.

The premier said in the legislature Thursday night Mr. Gordon told him while in Victoria for the opening of the B.C. House last week:

"If the day comes you want to sell it, I only ask that you let me know as head of the CNR that it is for sale. Just give us the chance, will you?"

During a B.C. tour here, Mr. Gordon said he hadn't yet seen the statement made by Mr. Bennett.

Mothers Collect $45,000 But Polio Drive Falls Short

A final tally of collections in the Saturday porch-light polio drive is expected to reach a total of $45,000. Officials of the Kinsmen one-hour blitz said $42,033 was on hand this morning and some results were still to come in by mail. Last year, Victoria district's 3,000 marching mothers gathered $46,000 and following the 1954 polio scare $64,000 was donated.

The collection fell far short of the $75,000 goal set for the drive this year. Officials were not too disappointed.

"We are not too disappointed," said drive chairman Ted Hamer, "considering the number of lay-offs around the city."

The campaign, which extended from Sooke and Sidney in the extremities to Victoria, Esquimalt and Oak Bay, was marked by the usual examples of sacrifice and determination to aid polio victims.

While mothers knocked on doors, fathers tended children, did supper dishes, tied up their dogs and kept the family car in the garage. The pedestrian women with their collection cans and bottles had freedom of the city.

A youngster who stands four feet one inches high presented canvassers with a 49-inch strip of adhesive tape, equal to her own height, on which a solid line of dimes was fastened.

An elderly lady operator of a guest house canvassed all her guests and turned over a thick envelope of funds to the campaign representative.

Six Kinsmen labored until late in the evening counting the donations as they poured in.

IMMIGRANT GIVES

A young immigrant scraped up a handful of silver and pennies—all he had.

Many mothers reported a larger number of darkened porches this year. One canvasser said one block she canvassed had no lights on at all.

City police rushed to a residential street when it was reported a man, aged about 30 and wearing a light jacket, was canvassing. He was left on the job when officers found it was Sandy Grant, one of the area chairmen, helping the women canvassers.

Two Break-Ins Over Weekend; Little Loot

Two break-ins, one involving theft, were reported to city police Sunday.

At 12:20 a.m., Buckerfield's Ltd., 2105 Douglas, reported a 14 by 28-inch window broken from a side door panel, through which entry to the building was made.

There was no reported theft. At 11:15 a.m., King's Garage at Bay and Government reported entry and theft of two flashlights, seven flashlight batteries and 20 cents in change sometime overnight.

The attendant told police two boys had used the washroom about 5:30 p.m. Saturday, at which time it is believed they unlocked a window to gain entry later.

MONTE ROBERTS

... SHORTS AND LONGS ...

When summer comes, can spring be far behind?

A Victoria man went all the way to Hamilton, Ont., to bring back this spoonerized pun:

A newly married couple went to Africa on their honeymoon.

They arranged a safari deep in the darkest heart of darkest Africa, and all went well until, one day, the newlyweds strayed away from their guide and the accompanying party, and became lost.

"Oh, darling, what will we do now?" asked the bride. "I don't know," said the groom, "but I am very worried." Suddenly, from the depths of the jungle a group of cannibals leapt out and made the bride and groom captive. They were securely bound with leather thongs, and carried away to a clearing where a large kettle of water was simmering over a fire.

"Oh, darling, what will we do now?" breathed the bride. "I don't know," said the groom, "but I am very worried." While the water in the kettle simmered and came to a boil, the cannibal left the honeymoon couple bound with the leather thongs, and danced around the fire.

But one cannibal didn't like this operation at all. In fact, at heart he was a vegetarian.

So he slipped away from his colleagues, stole around behind the bride and groom, and, with a piece of flint, began to saw away at the leather bindings.

"Stop worrying," said the bride, "Because, darling, he is fraying our thong."

The Victoria man is going all the way back to Hamilton, Ont., to return the above spoonerized pun.

Latest slogan: Go North, young man, but be sure to have your citizenship papers (Swedish) in order.

Tabloid definition of a Saanich councillor: Either resigned to his fate, or just resigned.

And speaking of spoonerized puns (as we were above, albeit unfortunately) I have a friend who is trying to do something with a "A rolling stone gathers no moss."

He has arrived at a stage where he has a "stolen roan" but there he is stuck.

If you can help him, please address your solution to "Spooner," care of me, care of The Times.

And seal the envelope securely.

I do not wish to have any part of this.

Thermopylae Club of Victoria is appealing for information leading to return of records dating back 25 years, lost when the club moved from St. Charles Street to the tea rooms at the foot of Sinclair Road.

Information should be forwarded to the club at Akron Hall, Broad Street.

It would take one hour not half an hour, for 3,000 cars to leave the city in two-lane traffic, civil defence co-ordinator Roger Peachey said today. He said a report published following a civil defence meeting last week was in error where it stated 1,500 cars could pass a given point in a single lane, in half an hour.

A colored motion picture showing animals at night packed Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium Saturday night, and an estimated 200 were turned away at the door.

A capacity audience of about 700 saw the films, which was photographed and shown by Howard Cleave of New York, a pioneer in film techniques.

Showing was sponsored by the Natural History Society and the Audubon Society of Canada.

Dr. A. O. Hayes, president of the Natural History Society, said they would like to show the movies in a larger hall but so far none could be obtained.

Construction of a breakwater from Turkey Head to Jimmy Chicken Island, to provide mooring space for small boats, will be advocated at an Oak Bay council meeting tonight by Victoria Outboard Club.

Leading the club's delegation will be Wilfred Hughes and Frank Baylis.

The club has suggested the breakwater might be either a centennial project, or a federal-provincial scheme with the Oak Bay council making representations to the governments concerned.

Information should be forwarded to the club at Akron Hall, Broad Street.

BUS FARE NEEDED

Hungarians Plan Dinner To Get Funds

Victoria's 300 new Hungarian residents, many of whom are without work, will stage a dinner March 5 in an attempt to raise money to provide the needier newcomers with bus fare and pocket money.

The Art Gallery of Greater Victoria is putting its premises and all its services at the disposal of the Hungarian association now being formed, and will endeavor to have local artists decorate the building for the affair.

The Hungarians themselves will do the cooking, serving, and the entertaining, which will include songs by a 15-voice choir, and instrumental selections. Those taking part will wear their national costume.

"I guarantee everyone will have more than enough to eat," said Miklos Turje, vice-president of the local Hungarian group.

There will be places set for 100, and reservations may be made by telephoning the Art Gallery, 4-3123, or the local Hungarian Relief Committee office at 5-3515. Price will be $4 per plate.

At present some Hungarians are walking three to four miles to attend their twice-weekly English classes, simply because they have not the money for bus fare, Mr. Turje said.

About 100 of the newcomers have jobs of some sort, he said.

Fire Probe Started In Saanich

Needless Delay Charged In Fighting House Blaze

Saanich fire and public works committee has asked for a full report on a fire which destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Jess, 142 Goward, Saturday before midnight.

Firemen were accused of needless delay in fighting the blaze, which started from unknown causes while no one was home.

Joseph Law, Saanich fire chief, will present a report of the fire at a meeting of the fire and public works committee tonight.

His only comment today was: "The house was 50 per cent demolished by the time we got there."

Chief Law would say no more before filing his report, he said. The residence, valued at $7,000 and covered partly by insurance, had five rooms and was located outside the fire hydrant area.

A motorist half a mile away first noticed the blaze, which had attained a good size by that time. He stopped at a home close by to phone firemen.

A pumper, tanker and hose truck attended and began using the tanker immediately, emptying it in a matter of minutes on the roaring house.

A fireman said the operation was hampered by the lack of accessible water supply, but it was pointed out by residents that Prospect Lake is only 200 feet away from the home.

Firemen required nearly 20 minutes to begin pumping water from a creek about two blocks away.

The Jesses both work nights as caretakers at Red Cross Lodge, Veterans' Hospital, and a son, James, 14, was away from the house.

They are staying with another son, Samuel, 1011 Amphion. Prospect Lake District Community Association president A. J. Shakespear, 4929 Prospect, said he could not understand why firemen did not begin pumping from the lake or creek on arrival.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—How far back in history does the dog go?—Mrs. T.B.H. A.—A great deal has been written across the years about that species. In its article on dogs Encyclopaedia Britannica says: "Although the word 'dog' is believed to have been originally applied to a particular English breed, it is now used in a general sense to connote all the domesticated varieties of the zoological genus Canis, of which the wolf, (Canis lupus) and the northern jackal (Canis aureus) of Europe and Asia are familiar species. The accepted zoological name is Canis familiaris. The time that prehistoric man first domesticated a wild canine to serve as his hunting aid or cave guardian is unknown. The aboriginal peoples of Switzerland and Ireland used dogs for hunting and undoubtedly ate dog flesh long before they learned to till the soil. Cave drawings of the palaeolithic era include hunting scenes."

Jury Trial For Suspect

Trial by judge and jury was elected in city court today by bank robber suspect Barry Irwin Keele, 26, no fixed address, charged with Feb. 11 hold-up of Canadian Bank of Commerce James Bay branch.

He was adjourned to Feb. 26 for preliminary hearing. Counsel J. Ronald Grant asked the court to reduce to $5,000 the $10,000 bail, which he called "almost excessive under the circumstances," and which Keele has been unable to post.

Permission was refused and Keele remains in custody.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Tribute to Sam Cromie

Sam Cromie, who died in that tragic weekend boating accident, lived a short life but, I feel sure, a happy one. Quick to laugh, gregarious and generous, Sam was game for anything.

In appearance he was much like his father, the late Bob Cromie. And like him, he had a flair for showmanship.

Sam was a natural mimic. In the old days, when he was a cub reporter on the Sun, he could make the boys laugh until the tears came down their cheeks with his impression of 15 minutes in a Japanese pants-pressure salon.

Complete with dialect, and the hissing sounds of the steam as they made a crease in his trousers.

Sam played an important role in the behind-the-scenes drama which saved the Sun for the Cromie family, and set the stage for its greatest period of expansion.

He was in the Air Force in Edmonton when he received word that the Sun was to be sold to eastern interests. The cheque was in the mail.

Cromie

The Sun's alert managing editor, Hal Straight, telephoned Sam that the fate of the paper was hanging in the balance. Sam didn't have time to get to the coast. But he lined up with his brother Don to keep control in the family, and it was worked out.

After the war, Sam took over the mechanical end of the paper as assistant publisher, while Don tended to the editorial. The younger Cromie then entered municipal politics and topped the polls, but retired after a two-year term.

After the disastrous Province strike of 1946, the Sun took over leadership of the Vancouver field. With the paper prospering, Sam began to indulge his hobbies, most of them connected with sports.

On his office wall in Vancouver was a picture of Sam with Bing Crosby, who had been his guest on a salmon-fishing expedition. Cromie was crazy about boats, planes and cars. In 1955 he was on the inaugural over-the-pole flight to Amsterdam with his friend and neighbor, Grant McConachie. He broke away from the party in London to join his wife, Joan, on the continent, and pick up a Mercedes-Benz sports car. This led him into an interest in a Mercedes-Benz agency in Vancouver.

The last time we saw Sam was at a Canadian Press meeting in Edmonton. He was roaming the lobby of the hotel with a handsome shotgun case over his shoulder. He wanted to go out and pick off a few birds before he returned to Vancouver.

In the evening there was a party, an upstairs suite. As usual, Sam was the host. People wandered in and out all evening, with Sam in the thick of it—telling stories, puffing on a cigar, waving a cheery glass at a friend.

He was a knowledgeable publisher, a blithe spirit, a good companion. His death leaves us all a little shattered.

No Action Expected on Monteith Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Law Society's discipline committee received no complaints in the case of dismissed government law clerk Berkeley Monteith.

M. M. McFarlane, chairman of the discipline committee, said today that "unless someone makes a complaint nothing will be done" and the society will not likely take up the case. Mr. Monteith demanded last week that Attorney General Robert Bonner report him to the Law Society, following Mr. Bonner's statement in the legislature on reasons for his dismissal.

Eddie Cantor's Wife Stricken

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ida Cantor, wife of comedian Eddie Cantor, has suffered an apparent heart attack and was reported in good condition today at the Miami Heart Institute.

Cantor also has been having trouble with his heart recently.

Fruit Growers 'Fear Reprisals'

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—R. E. Reid, a Penticton fruit grower, told the royal commission on B.C.'s fruit industry today possible witnesses won't testify "for fear of reprisals."

Mr. Reid told Commissioner E. D. MacPhee that if hearings were in private, the commissioner might learn some pertinent facts that he would not otherwise hear.

Small Ship Gets Through Suez

SUEZ, Egypt (AP)—Squeezing past obstructions, the little Egyptian ship Ramses has travelled the entire length of the Suez Canal—the first commercial vessel to complete the 103-mile trip since last November's fighting.

The voyage of the 322-ton Ramses, little bigger than a tug, does not mean the waterway is cleared for ordinary shipping. There are still three major obstructions blocking the channel which the UN salvage fleet hopes to open by March 10 for medium-sized vessels.

Ike Cuts Holiday Over Israel Crisis

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower decided today to cut short his vacation and fly back to Washington Tuesday for conferences on the Middle East crisis.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States virtually washed its hands today of efforts outside the United Nations to win Israeli withdrawal from disputed Middle East territories.

President Eisenhower told Israel bluntly she now has "the maximum assurance that it can reasonably expect at this juncture, or that can be reconciled with fairness to others."

That was a key phrase in an interview with a newsman.

OWN STORY

70-Year-Old Encountered Thug Twice

By AB KENT

A 70-year-old church caretaker was responsible for the capture early Sunday of confessed safe-cracker Michael A. Gorak after the suspect spent part of Saturday night in Emmanuel Baptist Church, 1279 Gladstone.

John MacBeath, 70, 1908 Fernwood, tipped police regarding Gorak's activities in the Fernwood-Gladstone area after sharing a tin of soup and some canned pineapple with him in the church basement.

Actual capture was made at gunpoint shortly after 7 a.m. by Cons. Lorne Johnson, of city police.

ACTED NERVOUS

The caretaker, who knew of Gorak's escape from the police station, did not become suspicious immediately, but got wary when his companion at the impromptu supper Saturday night started to act nervous.

Here is his story: "I went into the church to open it up for the Teen-Time group at 6.15. There he was warming himself a can of soup on the electric stove. Quite a cool customer."

"He invited me to have a bowl of soup with him. He had a can of pineapple there, too."

"I was gracious enough to sit down with him, and he told me his name was Wilson."

"He finished the soup and pineapple—which I think he bought at a store; he didn't take it from the church—and began to get a little nervous."

"He said his mother was expecting him for supper. I was beginning to get a little worried."

"He left his dirty dishes in the sink and went out, but I don't think he left the church."

"I washed the dishes and phoned the police as soon as I got home."

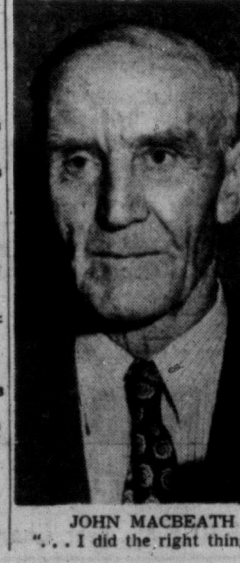

"The police came while I was having a cup of coffee at the store (nearby) and I told them I thought he was still around the church. They said he would be miles away by this time."

Mr. MacBeath then went home, getting up early to do his work in the church, about a block away.

"I met him again Sunday morning (about 6 o'clock) at the corner of Fernwood and Gladstone. I believe he spent the night in the church. We saw a place in the basement where he had made a bed out of sacks and sawdust."

"He spoke to me on the street. He said, 'Good morning. You're up early this morning.' I said, 'So are you,' and he said he was going to work."

"I went and phoned the police. I think I did the right thing by playing along with him the night before."

Caught Again At Gun-Point

Re-arrested at gunpoint after escaping from Victoria police station Saturday, safecracker Michael A. Gorak pleaded guilty today to four charges—two of breaking, entering and theft, one of possession of burglar tools, and escaping custody.

He was captured at gunpoint early Sunday, 10½ hours after jumping 14 feet to freedom out a second-storey window in the city detective bureau, where he was waiting to be charged with committing Friday night break-ins.

Const. Lorne Johnson fired two shots in the air to stop the suspect, running away from a police car across Victoria High School grounds.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded Gorak to Wednesday. The accused said only: "I would like to make a plea on Wednesday."

The 32-year-old Gorak has spent 11 years and three months in Western Canada prisons for various offences, including

Queen to Visit Ottawa in Fall?

OTTAWA — Possibility of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh paying a brief visit to Canada this fall will be discussed by Prime Minister St. Laurent with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, when the two statesmen confer in Bermuda next month.

The Royal couple is expected to visit the United States this autumn.

Authoritative sources in Washington said Sunday the Queen has accepted "unofficially" President Eisenhower's invitation to take part in the 50th anniversary celebrations in connection with the founding of the first permanent English settlement on this continent, at Jamestown in Virginia.

(At London, the foreign office said today "there are no plans for a Royal visit to the United States or Canada, at present.")

Should Her Majesty and the duke decide to come to Canada this fall it is likely the visit would be a short one of two or three days' duration at the most. They would only visit Ottawa.

Knocked From Trike

A three-year-old Saanich boy was killed instantly at 1.50 p.m. today when an oil truck, backing up, ran over him.

Wayne Clifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clifford, of 1145 Palmer Street, died from head injuries.

An oil truck owned by Walter Walker and Sons is reported to have knocked the youngster from a tricycle. He landed beneath the rear wheels.

Driver of the truck was reported to have been Barry Harold Koehn, 1063 Costain Avenue in Langford.

The Clifford family doctor arrived at the home a few moments after the accident to administer to the distraught mother. The child's father was brought home from his work. The little boy was one of three Clifford children.

"The driver of the truck also was described as being in a state bordering hysteria."

Saanich police investigating the accident found a tricycle with a bent front wheel, and two tennis balls lying in the street near the body.

CITY AIRMEN CHEAT DEATH

Bomber Hits House In Winnipeg Crash

Two Victoria men had a miraculous escape from death Sunday at Winnipeg when their RCAF twin-engine bomber crashed in a residential area.

Neither occupants nor residents were seriously hurt, although the huge plane bounced off houses and knocked down garages.

The plane carried a crew of three and three passengers. Included were:

Ft. Sgt. R. F. Hawes, about 40, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hawes, 2522 Belmont.

FO Gibson received a slight head cut in the crash. Ft. Sgt. Hawes was unhurt.

Only one of the four other occupants of the ill-fated aircraft was held in hospital. He has possible back injuries.

Both the Victoria men had been in the city visiting relatives on the weekend. Their plane had left Vancouver for Winnipeg early Sunday, completing the return leg of a navigational flight.

The pilot, FO J. S. Sargent, of Westwood, Ont., reported engine trouble as he neared Stevenson Field, adjoining residential St. James, a Winnipeg suburb.

Roaring down through the early evening darkness, the plane slammed the roof of the home of James Mair, at the same time leaving part of its fuselage embedded in the next door occupied by Maxwell Orchard and knocking the chimney from the home of Steve Reynolds. The three homes are side by side.

Hit Only Empty House in Block

Dipping into the back yards as it dove diagonally across the block, the aircraft pushed in the roof of one garage, demolished another while the owner was away with his car, broke off a six-inch power pole and skidded into the framework of a house under construction.

The house was the only unoccupied one in the block.

The nose of the plane pushed into the side of the home of Clarence Campbell, who with his wife was away at the time. The family dog was trapped in the house, which was knocked askew by the impact. The animal was later rescued.

One man was pinned in the wreckage for a time.

No one on the ground was injured.

Police Chief Donald MacDonald said, "You never saw such a miracle in your life."

The crash recalled a similar mishap in the city in 1951, when a Vampire jet crashed into a garage. The pilot escaped seriously.

WARREN, Mo. (AP)—Firemen poked through the smouldering ruins of an old folks home today for the bodies of at least 70 persons who died in the blazing funeral pyre within minutes Sunday.

The searchers, working in spots cooled off by streams of water, had found 16. A deadly stench filled the air. Smoke and steam continued to rise from the ruins.

Seventy of the 155 patients, including 45 women, were reported missing in the fast-spreading fire. A ripping explosion followed. One eyewitness said the entire building was aflame in three or four

70 Die in Funeral Pyre At Missouri Home for Aged

Another said about 15 minutes.

Authorities were baffled by the speed with which the flames raced through the two-story brick building.

The victims ranged in age up to 99 years.

One child was among those missing and presumed dead.

She was Susan Kay Pfister, 17-year-old invalid daughter of Mrs. Alice Watts of Lynft, Ark.

The charred bodies were found buried in a pile of twisted iron beds, plumbing fixtures, brick and mortar in the basement. Some, all but cremated, were so badly burned they were put in cardboard cartons little more than a foot square.

The building went down by floors. The roof fell in. The second floor followed and it all collapsed into the basement.

"The whole building was in flames in just three or four minutes," John J. Barada, a 34-year-old hardware operator, said. He was one of the first to reach the scene.

Firemen from 25 nearby communities, townspeople and attendants rushed into the burning building and helped bed-ridden patients and injured out.

The tragedy began on a pleasant Sunday afternoon. Relatives were visiting with patients. Some 50 of the visitors were believed to have been in the building when the fire struck at 3.45 p.m.

rious injury but a man in the garage was fatally injured.
The bomber crashed seemed likely to stir protests from residents of the area whose safety would be threatened by any future crashes.

Mayor T. B. Findlay said he has asked for a detailed report of findings of an RCAF hearing on the crash.

HOME SHOOK

Mrs. Orchard said she and her husband and young son were all in their house when the crash came. "We just stood stock still waiting for the roof to come in. Then we all ran outside in our bare feet."

The temperature was zero and the ground was covered with snow.

Joan Mair, 18, was in her family's two-storey frame home with her mother, Mrs. Mary Mair; her sister, Laura, 9, and her grandmother, Mrs. Anne Mair.

"I heard it coming and I thought it was going to hit and I pulled up the blind," she said. Just then it did hit.

Mrs. Reynolds said their home shook when the plane hit the chimney.

FO R. A. Askew, who lives across the street from where the plane came to rest, was at the airport when the crash occurred.

"I thought it was right in my front door and I rushed up here," he said. "The first thing I saw was the co-pilot wandering around in a daze."

"I brought him over to the house, patched him up and gave him a cup of tea."

Both local men were born here. FO Gibson joined the RCAF at Calgary two years ago. He is married and has a wife in Winnipeg.

Flt. Sgt. Hawes joined the RAF in 1939 and transferred to the RCAF six years later. He was mentioned in dispatches during the Second World War. Married, he has three children at his present home in Winnipeg.

Relatives of both men said it was the first time either had been involved in a crash.

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill proposed to use Canadian troops for a landing in Norway on January 1943, after British service chiefs had twice vetoed the idea, says a new war history.

The book, "The Turn of the Tide," by Sir Arthur Bryant, is based on the war diaries and later notes of Field Marshal Viscount Alanbrooke, Britain's leading strategist of the Second World War.

Rebuffed by his chiefs, Churchill then invited Canadian army commander Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton to discuss Norway. Alanbrooke said McNaughton told him before seeing Churchill that "he would not dream of accepting such a task for his troops."

Man Runs Amok Killing Six, Takes Own Life

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—A Polish immigrant went berserk in a Brisbane suburb today, killing six persons before taking his own life. Slain were his wife and child, a mother and her two daughters and another girl.

Marie Majka, 30, who spent her war in a German concentration camp, battered his wife and child to death.

He then entered the home of his Scottish immigrant neighbor, Ramsay Irvine, 33; her daughters, Ann, 12, and Maureen, 9, and another girl, Lynette Karger, 12. He poured kerosene over their bodies and set them afire.

Mrs. Irvine's six-months-old daughter, Elaine, was found lying under her mother's body, suffering from burns and wounded foot. Irvine was at work at the time.

Alanbrooke, was chief of the Imperial General Staff and chairman of the British Chiefs of Staff Committee for most of the war.

Alanbrooke tells how Churchill had promised Stalin an invasion of Norway, only to find his chiefs of staff would not agree to it while the North African operation was being carried out in the latter half of 1942.

After his interview with Churchill, Alanbrooke said, "a limp-looking McNaughton walked into my room and literally poured himself into my armchair."

"I asked him how he had got on. He informed me that he had had a ghastly weekend. "He had been kept up till all hours of the morning until he didn't know which way he was facing. Winston's control of the English language... had left him dumfounded."

Two days later, the book discloses, Churchill was planning to send the Canadian commander to Moscow for immediate conversations with Stalin.

But by this time the Canadian government had considered the proposal and vetoed it.

Const. Johnson captured Gorak just after 7 a.m. Sunday as he ran across Victoria High School grounds. Two warning shots were fired by Johnson to stop the fugitive.

DRAGNET OUT

Detectives and uniform police in several prowling cars were searching the neighborhood on a tip from Emmanuel Baptist Church caretaker John MacBent, who had spoken to Gorak only 30 minutes before at Fernwood and Gladstone, opposite the school.

Gorak elected trial by magistrate on the four charges, to which he pleaded guilty.

Det. Andrews told the court he went in company with Det. Deans Blackstock at 8 a.m. Saturday to Canadian National Railways offices at 1101 Government, where entry had been made by forcing a window and dials knocked off three safes.

One safe was entered—the one in the ticket office—and money was missing. In the telephone office three desk drawers were jimmied.

At 8:15 a.m. the detectives went to Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion, 625 Courtney, where they found an office door jimmied and the dial knocked off a walk-in vault.

In a bar room, entry had been gained by a window and a number of cupboards smashed open behind the bar. Twenty-six cartons of cigarettes and some cigars

A search of the rooms disclosed safe-cracking tools and the rest of the loot.

There was $137 in cash and a cheque.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)

Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, denied Sunday he had discussed the purchase or sale of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway with Premier Bennett of British Columbia.

The premier said in the legislature Thursday night Mr. Gordon told him while in Victoria for the opening of the B.C. House last week:

"If the day comes you want to sell it, I only ask that you let me know as head of the CNR that it is for sale. Just give us the chance, will you?"

During a B.C. tour here, Mr. Gordon said he hadn't yet seen the statement made by Mr. Bennett. In a prepared statement, the railway president said: "My talk with Premier Bennett was a private conversation which ranged over a variety of subjects. My understanding was that there would be no comment to the press except to make it clear that no sale of the PGE was in contemplation or discussed between us."

"Accordingly, that is all I have to say."

TOSCANINI BURIED AT MILAN

A Maestro Returns As Watchers Mourn

ROME (AP) — The maestro came home Sunday night to rest.

What's he so SATISFIED about?

SEE PAGE-7

Under a brilliant blue sky, a massive lead and oak casket containing the remains of Arturo Toscanini, lion of Italian music for more than 60 years, was wheeled gently out of the plane which brought it here from New York, where the maestro died Jan. 16 at the age of 89.

Four simple wreaths and 500 silent mourners awaited Toscanini.

It was a moving moment. Airport workers wept and a number knelt in prayer.

There were no speeches, no ceremonies.

The casket was carried north in a special coach of the overnight Rome-Milan express.

At Milan the casket was placed in the foyer of La Scala opera house for two hours for friends and admirers to pay their last tributes.

Burial was at the simple family chapel, in Milan's memorial cemetery, which he built for a son who died in 1906.

Playhouse 90 Tops 'Emmy' Nominations

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Playhouse 90, CBS' innovation in 90-minute drama, has captured leading honors in the race for television's Emmy—similar to the Oscars awarded in movie-dom.
The show won 13 nominations in various categories of the TV academy's ninth annual awards. Following was Kraft Theatre with six.

Nanette-Fabray, Hitchcock Among Puzzlers

A wide open race was predicted after the nominations, which were not as confused as in recent years. There were some puzzlers, however.
Nanette Fabray, who won two Emmies last year, was nominated for best comedienne because of Caesar's Hour, on which she no longer appears. She competes in that category with Edie Adams, Gracie Allen, Lucille Ball and Ann Sothern.
Alfred Hitchcock is nominated as one of the best male personalities, though he appears for only about two minutes weekly to introduce his spine-chillers. His competition: Steve Allen, Leonard Bernstein, Perry Como and Tennessee Ernie Ford.
Other nominations included:
Best single performance, actor: Lloyd Bridges, Tragedy in a Temporary Town; Frederic March, Dodsworth; Sal Mineo, Dino; Jack Palance, Requiem for a Heavyweight; and Red Skelton, The Big Slide.
Best single performance, actress: Edna Best, This Happy Breed; Gracie Fields, Old Lady Shows Her Medals; Nancy Kelly, The Pilot; Evelyn Rudie, Eloise and Claire Trevor, Dodsworth.
Best supporting performance, actor: Art Carney, Paul Ford, William Frawley, Carl Reiner and Ed Wynn.

There are a couple of really good reasons for seeing the Victoria Theatre Guild production of "Anastasia" at Langham Court Theatre this week.

When the excessively talky play and its meandering out-lines have been lost to memory, the performance of Pat Fairweather in her tragic and regal role of the Dowager Empress, will remain an outstanding one in amateur theatre annals.

Second, in order of merit, must be placed a small character bit by Vaughan Baker.

A fairly smooth-running opening night was attended Saturday by a sell-out audience with several non-ticket-holders turned away at the door.

POWERFUL, SINCERE

Mrs. Fairweather's performance was powerful, moving and sincere. She conveyed the knowledge that her heartbreak was of long years' duration, that she had learned to live with it and without hope.

Her acting was almost the only genuine bit of creative art in the production, but it was enough to make the evening worthwhile.

Vanessa Lax as the rumored Anastasia was pictorially delightful and has good qualities as an actress, but her interpretation in this case was off-key.

Her voice was kept too light and bodiless for one thing. For another, her appeal was that of a lost and bewildered child rather than a mature woman whose mind is shadowed by the horrors of the past.

UNREWARDING PART

Tommy Mayne and Russ Gurney gave competent performances, the latter in an unrewarding part. David Shearer's Prince Bounine was not sufficiently authoritative, shrewd or cold-blooded to be effective and neither his gestures nor his posture suggested the general of Don Cossacks he was supposed to have been.

What foreign atmosphere existed was created largely by the settings, particularly in the

PUBLIC NOTICE

Royal Commission on Employment of Firemen on Diesel Locomotives in Freight and Yard Service on the Canadian Pacific Railway

By Order-in-Council P.C. 1957-52 dated 17 January 1957, this Commission was appointed to inquire into and report upon all matters it deems necessary in order to answer, and to answer the following questions:-

"(a) Are firemen (or firemen helpers) required on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service of the Canadian Pacific Railway (including the Eastern, Prairie and Pacific regions and the Quebec Central and Dominion Atlantic Railways)?"

"(b) If not, what terms and conditions, which would be fair to the firemen, to those who use the Railway, to the Railway Company, and to its other employees, should be observed by the Railway for the purpose of protecting firemen now in its employ against the consequences of the loss of such employment and seniority therein?"

"(c) Should the provisions in the present agreements between the Railway Company and the Brotherhood concerning 'arbitrariness' and the 'mountain differential' be maintained, dropped or modified, and if in the opinion of the Commission they should be modified, how and to what extent?"

Public hearings upon these matters will be held by the Commission commencing Monday March 4 at 10.30 a.m. in the Supreme Court Building, Ottawa.

Persons or organizations wishing to bring information to the attention of the Commission should communicate with the Secretary, Room 95, Supreme Court Building, Ottawa.

LADYSMITH 'PAY-AS-YOU-GO'

April 6 Opening For New Hospital

LADYSMITH—The $300,000 hospital now under construction here on the site of the present frame hospital will be opened April 6, with Health Minister Eric Martin officiating.

The ceremony will be followed by a tour of inspection of the new building by visitors and members of the public.

Later the same day the Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner to honor the canvassers who worked for two years to raise the $300,000 needed by the district to start the hospital project.

Mr. Martin will be invited to speak at the dinner.

NO LOANS

It will mark successful completion of the biggest and most ambitious project this community has ever attempted. As a result of the fund-raising drive, when the building is finished it will be completely paid for, with no borrowing and no charge against city or district property.

When the 32-bed concrete structure is in use, the old building will be torn down.

800-word statement authorized by the president at his Thomasville, Ga., vacation headquarters in which he outlined steps taken by the UN and U.S. to protect Israeli interests. He wound it up with a new appeal for Israeli co-operation with the UN, declaring:

"The United States, for its part, will strive to remain true to, and support, the United Nations in its efforts to sustain the purposes and principles of the charter, as the world's best hope of peace."

IN CLOSE TOUCH

At Thomasville, Ga., Eisenhower put aside vacation activities to keep in "very close touch" with Washington on the Middle East crisis. However, it was denied by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary.

tary, that the president was planning to go before the United Nations General Assembly to discuss the Israeli-Egyptian situation and perhaps make some new dramatic proposal.

Israeli officials said their talks with U.S. officials are not at an end. Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban said he expects to meet again with State Secretary Dulles—"but no date has been fixed."

Golda Meir, Israel's foreign minister, said Sunday night Israeli troops would evacuate Sharm el Sheikh in an hour if the U.S. guarantees free shipping to all nations in the Gulf of Aqaba.

In a TV appearance, she proposed three other possible solutions: 1. A similar guarantee by Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Jordan, which border the gulf; 2. Stationing of UN police forces at Sharm el Sheikh to prevent harassment of gulf shipping; and 3. an Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty.

At the United Nations in New York today Asian-African delegates appeared still undecided today whether to ask the UN General Assembly to vote economic penalties now to get Israel out of Egypt.

One Arab source told a reporter he had heard "it was the sense of the group" that a resolution calling for economic relations should be introduced when the General Assembly resumes Middle East debate Tuesday.

But another member of the 27-country group declared "I don't think that they would do anything so serious before they got the U.S. views on that."

It is understood chief U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge in conferences today will explain the American views.

'Torture' Claim Wins Freedom For Cypriot at Murder Trial

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—British justice Bernard Shaw, who was himself shot through the neck and seriously wounded by Cypriot terrorists last June, today acquitted and discharged a 21-year-old Greek Cypriot accused of murdering a British sergeant.

The Cypriot, Charalambos Christodoulides, admitted signing a confession but said police had "extracted" it from him. He said he signed it only because he feared he would be "tortured again" if he did not. "I find," said Justice Shaw, "that the accused has succeeded in raising a reasonable doubt as to whether his statement was freely and voluntarily made."

Meanwhile, a British serviceman and a member of the EOKA terrorist organization were reported killed today in a gun battle in the Troodos Mountains area about 50 miles west of Nicosia.

The dead terrorist is believed to be Demetris Christodoulou, a 20-year-old Greek Cypriot with a £5,000 price on his head. The British victim was the 101st Briton and the 78th serviceman to die since the outbreak of terrorism in Cyprus in 1955.

Bennett Says People Favor Project 20-1

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Premier Bennett today claimed the people of British Columbia are now 20 to one in favor of the Wenner-Gren multi-million dollar industrial development in north-central B.C.

"This is indicated not only by weekend press comment but by letters reaching this office and from special information obtained from all corners of the province," the premier said.

"Last Friday's historic debate served to clear the air and answered many questions in the public mind," he said.

Mr. Bennett voiced his usual complaint that the opposition has "obstructed every progressive policy this government has put forward, including even the northern extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway."

"They may continue to quarrel with us over the way we presented this (Wenner-Gren) project. But they have been silenced so far as the scheme itself is concerned. They cannot produce a jot of evidence to show it is not in the future interests of the province."

The premier added that the Wenner-Gren scheme has done more to interest the world in B.C. than anything else could have done.

"I hope the opposition will help to keep the subject alive. It is wonderful publicity for B.C."

The premier referred to a suggestion from the London Daily Express, owned by New Brunswick-born Lord Beaverbrook, that the northern development should be done by British, Canadian and U.S. capital.

"We agree with this in principle... and we only wish Brit-
